Pricedale Woman Shot to Death

Husband Admits to Slaying Mother Of Seven Children

A 26-year-old mother of seven children was shot to death by her husband during a quarrel which broke out while they were visiting friends in Pricedale late last night.

The husband, Edward Bank, 30, of Green Hill in Pricedale, shot his wife, Ruby, almost point blank with a 12-guage shotgun. Death was instant.

The husband is in Westmoreland County jail charged with murder.

Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, of Monessen, said the murder was committed at 11:10 last night.

Chief of County Detectives A. B. "Buddy" Turner, who lives in Pricedale and was at the scene shortly after the shooting occurred, said Banks and his wife were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rone, of Pricedale, when the argument started.

Refused to Go Home

The husband wanted his wife to go home, but she refused.

He left the house, went to his home and got a shotgun. Returning, he met his wife as she came out of the house. He asked her again to go home with him. Once again she refused.

Standing about four feet away he aimed the gun and shot her in the head.

She fell face down in a pool of mud.

The husband was arrested at a neighboring house shortly afterwards.

Assistant county detective Paul Bazilwich said Banks has admitted the slaying.

'I Love Her'

After the shooting, Banks kept repeating to authorities,

"I love her. I love her. I don't know why I did it."

Neighbors said the couple had been having domestic difficulties for many months.

He is the father of five of her children, the youngest being five months old.

Her body was taken to the Waters Funeral Home in Clairton.

The couple's children are Loretta, 7; Edward, Jr., 6; Lazan, 3; Len, 1, and Leverda, five months. Her other two children live with relatives.

Assisting in the investigation were State Troopers Richard Rothwell and Edward Mackiw and Rostraver Township Constable Harry Weightman.

Eisenhowers at Farm; Speed Limits Observed

WASHINGTON (UP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower motored to Gettysburg, Pa., in a drizzle today for a few days of relaxation at their farm.

They left at 11:31 a.m. e.s.t., accompanied by one of the President's physicians, Col. Walter Tkach. No definite return was announced, but the White House said it probably would be Sunday night or Monday morning.

Reporters who trailed along in the presidential motorcade had Mr. Eisenhower's promise that they won't have to speed to keep up with him this time.

On his last Gettysburg trip last Friday, Montgomery County, Md., police flagged down three carloads of reporters following the presidential limousine, but did not slow down Mr. Eisenhower himself

The reporters said they were doing 70 to 75 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone at the time. The police said later they did not observe any "improper acts" by the White House limousine.

The President told his Wednesday news conference he did not know his car was exceeding the speed limit since he always uses the back seat as a "conference room." He added, however, that he has issued orders to his Secret Service drivers to observe all speed limits at all times in the future.

Belle Vernon Boy Hurt When Hit By Automobile

Larry Bachelor, a six-year-old Belle Vernon boy, is in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today suffering from injuries received yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a car, Chief of Police Vincent Isenberg, of Belle Vernon, said today.

The victim, a second grade student at Belle Vernon elementary school, was on his way home from school when he was hit by a car operated by Clifford Breckenridge, of R. D., Belle Vernon. The youth, it was said, ran into the path of the machine.

He suffered a head injury and was to be given x-rays at the hospital today.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvis Bachelor, of 203 Main street.

Minor Accident On Maple Avenue

A minor motor accident occurred yesterday afternoon on Maple avenue, it was reported today by Monessen police.

The drivers involved were Keith Bradley, of 956 Donner avenue, and Charles Darby, of 603 Schoonmaker avenue, who was driving a car belonging to the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi.

Riesel Recalls Acid Tossing One Year Ago

NEW YORK (UP)— "It was a year ago this morning," labor columnist Victor Riesel recalled today. "A deluge of hot acid scarred my eyes. There was no warning. Just a splash aimed directly at the eyes and the face—not just to burn and frighten, but to blind for peering too closely."

In a story in the New York Daily Mirror today Riesel noted the first anniversary of his blinding at the hands of hoodlums.

The blindness, at first thought to be absolute, has relented a bit he reported.

"It's been a long journey to the end of the night," he said. "Now the total darkness is gone. Now there is light. Now the sunshine has broken through. I can see its brilliance when the sky is unclouded. It is a victory over darkness; and somehow I feel it is a victory, too, over those who lurk in the shadows."

Riesel reported he can see the flicker of light from a cigaret lighter and can vaguely perceive other objects. He said he frequently spends a bit of time "watching" neon lights flicker on and off."

House to Reconsider Postal Funds; Service Cuts Delayed

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Appropriations Committee today promised to consider next Friday provisions of funds to stave off a cut in postal service. Members said they expect the Post Office to delay until then the cuts it planned to impose at midnight tonight.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was expected to make good by midnight tonight on threats to curtail postal service.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) of a House appropriations subcommittee accused Summerfield of trying to "sandbag" Congress by handing it an ultimatum either to appropriate more funds for his department or see the post office reduce services Saturday.

Cannon said he did not believe that Summerfield "can fool the American people" by trying to make Congress the scapegoat if the reductions go into effect.

Cannon's subcommittee Wednesday approved only 17 million dollars of Summerfield's emergency request for 47 million dollars in funds to continue full postal operations for the last three months of the fiscal year.

Not Considered Enough

Summerfield Thursday called the action "one of the most disturbing things I've ever been confronted with in my lifetime." He said the 17 million dollars would cover only pay increases to postal workers voted by Congress.

Summerfield said his department needed the additional funds because of an unexpected increase in the demand for mail services. But a number of Democrats accused him of overspending his budget and then running to Congress to bail him out

"I can't think that a cabinet officer who got more money from Congress than he asked for to do the job can fool the American people," Cannon said. "At the last minute he is trying to sandbag us by threatening to reduce services," he said.

He said Summerfield was provided 6 million dollars more than he had originally requested in his $2,113,140,000 budget for this fiscal year.

Summerfield and his top aides met until late Thursday night to discuss the situation. He called another meeting this morning and said a decision would be made during the day on the postal slash.

No Curtailment in Area Post Offices

No curtailment of postal service in the Monessen and Belle Vernon post offices is planned, it was announced today by the two postmasters, Edward F. Janusezewski and W. L. Bedsworth, respectively.

Both said they had not received any official orders to curtail any service.

"We will operate the same as usual tomorrow," they said.

Five Cited for Mine Drainage

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Sanitary Water Board has ordered five western Pennsylvania coal mine operators to shut down until they have received mine drainage permits.

The operators were Boyer & Vinoverski, Inc., Union Twp., Washington County; Superior Coal Co., and Isner and Kecks, Northside Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, all strip mines; Dewey Stewart, Kittanning Twp., Armstrong County and Jesse Wallace, Bradford Twp., Clearfield County, deep mines.

The clean streams law specifies that no coal mine may be opened or operated until a mine drainage permit is issued by the board.

State Ready To Get Federal School Funds

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department said today the Commonwealth will not have to spend additional funds to receive federal grants for school construction if the federal aid to education bill in Congress is enacted into law.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, state superintendent, said federal officials assured him Pennsylvania could retain its present method of subsidizing the cost of school construction and pledge its future appropriations to match outright federal grants if the bill is passed.

The proposed federal legislation provides that states would have to guarantee matching funds based on average per pupil costs in order to receive grants. Pennsylvania's estimated obligation for a grant of 18 million dollars would be 23 million dollars.

"This will not necessitate any appropriation at this session of the General Assembly, nor will it require additional appropriations at the next session," Boehm said.

Bill Becomes Law Without Leader's Name

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvanians will continue to pay the state's 3 per cent sales tax for at least two more years.

The tax extension became law at midnight Thursday without Gov. George M. Leader's signature. The measure provides that it shall be permanent, although the next and succeeding Legislatures could change its provisions.

The governor, who had until midnight to decide which of three courses he would take, announced about four hours before the deadline he would permit it to go into effect without signing it—an automatic process when a bill has been in the hands of the chief executive for more than 10 days.

At the same time the governor termed the tax bill, pushed through by the Republican-controlled General Assembly, "an unfair and bad bill" which should be rewritten and said the GOP must assume full responsibility for it. If Leader had vetoed the measure, the tax would have automatically dropped to 2 per cent at the end of the current fiscal period June 1.

"It makes unwarranted concessions to a handful of favored interests and in this manner sets business against business," he said in a 600-word statement.

Leader said if Republican legislative leaders had not agreed to revise the enforcement and collection provisions of the tax bill, he would have vetoed it—a course he would also have followed if the controversial stamp plan had not been eliminated.

The enforcement and administrative revisions were ironed out only Wednesday and are in the process of passage by the House in a separate measure. The stamp originally slated to begin last January, has never gone into effect because of court litigation.

Raps Revisions

Amendments added by the state Senate spell out exemptions for some industries and were sharply condemned by Leader.

"In effect, it authorizes a multi-million dollar giveaway to shipbuilders, utilities and certain other special interests," the governor said.

The governor said that although the recommendations of a special bipartisan tax study committee had gone "unheeded," he still considered the approach taken by the committee the best answer to the tax problem. And he "suggested" that the Legislature appoint a similar committee with the aim of "writing a more equitable sales tax. In that case, the governor said, the present sales tax could serve merely as a "stop-gap."

Leader also signed two other tax bills which were part of the "No new taxes" program which Republicans estimated, with taxes now on the books, would yield $1,500,000,000 in the next two years.

They were the penny added in 1955 to the cigarette tax for flood relief, which now becomes permanent and is figured to bring in 22 million dollars and the six-mill temporary portion of the 14-mill tax on gross receipts of public utilities. This will net about $13,700,000 of the 32 million dollar total yield from the levy.

Violent Storms Reported Over Most of Nation

By UNITED PRESS

Floods threatened the South today in the wake of a deadly flurry of tornadoes, and north central sections battled their worst blizzard since mid-winter.

The violent spring storm continued to buffet most of the nation from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic, touching off a rash of at least nine new tornadoes Thursday.

The threat of more twisters eased in Dixie today, but flooding rains continued in most southern sections. There was no break, however, in the northern states blizzard that swept the Dakotas, Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Blowing snow lashed by gusts up to 60 miles per hour stranded travellers in Wyoming and Colorado. Up to four feet of snow buried the mountain states area earlier in the week.

A ferry ship with 19 persons aboard was trapped in ice floes in the Straits of Mackinac, Mich., during the night, but all were reported safe and comfortable. A Coast Guard icebreaker stood by to free the ship today.

A United Press survey showed at least 36 persons killed and nearly 1,000 injured in 11 states due to the storm that began Tuesday with tornadoes in Texas and the Rocky Mountain blizzard.

Armed Bandit Hits Charleroi Cleaning Shop

An armed bandit, wearing a nylon stocking over his face, held up the proprietor of a cleaning establishment in Charleroi yesterday and fled with about four dollars in currency and an undetermined amount of change, according to a report by Charleroi police today.

The victim, William Chaney, was in his shop at Fifth street and Washington avenue at 3:45 p. m. when the bandit entered, pointed a gun and demanded money.

Chaney gave him all of the money in the register but the gunman was not satisfied and demanded more, police stated.

When Chaney told him he had no more money, the thug struck him in the face with the pistol and fled.

Bullets Obsolete Soon, Expert Says

JACKSON, Miss (UP) — An Army engineer predicts bullets soon will become obsolete.

Ray Turner, one of 300 scientists and engineers at the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., said bullets will soon be replaced by the more effective short range rockets.

Turner Thursday addressed an annual southern district meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Erie District, Part of Fayette County Lashed by Windstorms

By UNITED PRESS

Gale winds whipped the Erie district during the night as a spring storm, which dumped as much as 11 inches of snow on scattered areas, swept across Pennsylvania.

Heavy rains also fell. Conequenessing Creek spilled over its banks in Butler County forcing eight families from their homes at Renfrew, but state police reported the water receding this morning.

Observers at Erie Airport reported winds of up to 50 miles an hour during the blow there which started late Thursday. Utility lines were knocked down and trees uprooted.

Two buildings in Erie, which were hit by recent fires, suffered further damage. A wall of the burned out National Biscuit Co. building collapsed and the roof was ripped from the fire-scarred B.F. Fields warehouse. Television station WICU was forced off the air for a short time by a power failure.

Several small craft broke loose from their moorings in Erie Harbor, but were recovered by a Coast Guard cutter. Airline service was interrupted. Regular flights were resumed today.

A severe windstorm also was reported in Fayette County on the southern border of the state. Power and telephone lines were snapped and trees felled.

Minor flash floods were reported near Pittsburgh. The basements of a dozen homes on Rte. 8 north of the city were flooded.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported the heaviest snow fall at Philipsburg where 11 inches accumulated. Five inches was reported at Avoca, Franklin and Titusville.

The snow and sleet which were general over northern sections of the state Thursday turned to rain during the night. In the central mountains light rain was falling with freezing rain occurring at intervals. Over the eastern sections, the rain was general and steady, the Weather Bureau reported, while in the west widely scattered showers fell.

The Allegheny River was reported rising slowly. At Pittsburgh, where the Allegheny meets the Monongahela to form the Ohio, the State - Federal Flood Forecasting Service reported the stage at 8 a.m. was 17.9 feet, nearly a foot over pool stage. The forecasters said there was no danger of serious flooding.

In the Beaver River basin, where precautionary flood warnings were issued Thursday, the threat was reported eased. Small tributaries were running "bankful," but only the Conequenessing overflowed.

The Weather Bureau predicted cloudy skies and intermittent

No Authority Changes Expected This Year

Legislation requiring authorities which serve more than one community to have all the communities it serves represented on its membership apparently is dead for the present session of the Pennsylvania Assembly.

The bill was introduced recently by Rep. H. J. Maxwell (D), of Monessen, who had specifically in mind the Authority of the Borough of Charleroi.

Although the Charleroi Authority provides water service to communities other than Charleroi itself, including Monessen and Donora, the members are all Charleroi residents and are appointed by the borough council of Charleroi

The Daily Independent had advocated editorially that the situation be corrected by legislation, and Dr. Maxwell's bill was the result.

However, Rep. Stanley L. Blair (R), of Erie County, who is chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee of the House, to which the bill had been referred for study, advised The Independent yesterday as follows.

"At the request of Mr. Maxwell and as chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee, I brought up the bill that you were interested in, but the committee felt that it was not desirable to report out legislation of this kind at this time."

Blair's letter did not state why the committee felt the legislation was not "desirable".

It is virtually impossible, under Assembly procedures, to have a bill brought to the floor without the approval of the committee to which it has been referred.

Monessen Man Is Charged in Suit

A damage suit, resulting from an accident in Rostraver Township, was filed in the Westmoreland County courts yesterday by Jeannette Ackerman, 353 McCrea avenue Donora.

The suit which charges negligence on the part of Joseph Amendola, 1219 Maple avenue, Monessen, asks $1,192 in damages.

Six Killed in Cafe Explosion

Angered Men Toss In Bomb

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Three angry men who had been ejected from a bar tossed an oversized homemade bomb into the crowded cafe-saloon shortly before midnight Thursday night, killing six persons and injuring three others.

The coroner's office reported five men and one woman died in the explosion that demolished the Mecca Cafe and created a panic.

Earlier firemen said seven bodies had been taken from the blackened cafe but one of the persons believed dead, Mrs. Barbara Spielli, survived but was hospitalized with burns over most of her body.

Police immediately launched a search for three men who stood at the cafe door and tossed in a five gallon can — believed containing gasoline. Police said that one of the men then calmly threw in a lighted match on the toppled can and the cafe and entire blocks rocked with a terrific explosion.

Suspects Fired At

Witnesses said the men fled after the match was tossed. Officers said some one in the neighborhood saw what happened and fired three shots at the fleeing suspects, all three shots hitting a parked car.

Police Inspector Thomas Reddin said that the three men had been in the bar earlier and ordered to leave by bartender Larry Finton because they couldn't produce identification.

Finton told police the men returned again shortly before midnight and started annoying a woman customer. He said he ordered them to leave again.

"They left but appeared at the door again," Finton said. "I was near the back of the bar and before I knew it the place was in flames."

Officers said the bodies of the seven victims were badly charred. They said it would be some time before positive identification could be made.

Police said the patrons in the cafe trampled over the dead and injured in a mad scramble for safety. It was believed the seven victims were knocked to the floor in the mad scramble for safety and then were burned to death.

Bar Had Been Crowded

Cafe owner William Norman said he had just been negotiating the sale of the cafe — a small neighborhood bar. Officers estimated that about 20 persons were crowded around the bar sipping drinks when the explosion took place.

The rocking blast caused a fire in the cafe but the blaze was quickly extinguished by firemen.

"The building is completely gutted," said one fireman. "We had a hard time finding the bodies with all that blackened debris around."

Thousands of spectators jammed around police barricades. Extra officers were called out to hold back the crowd.

Sales Tax

reenactment came just 32 days after its introduction in the House Feb. 11. Republican and Democratic spokesmen are in sharp disagreement over how much revenue it will return to the Commonwealth's coffers. The GOP estimates the yield over the two year period starting next June 1 will be around 480 million dollars.

Estimates Vary

However, the last estimates made by the administration were for the tax to bring in no more than 448 million dollars over the same period. This was prior to insertion of Senate amendments giving new exemptions to public utilities, shipbuilding and manufacturing interests. Democrats contend this will reduce revenues by additional millions.

From the outset of the new General Assembly, the governor indicated he would not dispute the legislators' prerogative to select the tax vehicle because the GOP had control of both Houses. He could not put across the tax program he favored in 1955 when the Democrats dominated the House and were outnumbered only 26-24 in the Senate.

But when the House passed the bill on to the Senate and Republicans in the latter chamber added amendments to give industry and business increased exemptions from the tax, the governor voiced sharp objections in an appearance at a joint session of the two chambers.

The governor said that the changes made by the Senate resulted in a bill which "smacks of greed and tax-dodging." He also contended that its constitutionality was questionable and that it would be "difficult, if not impossible" to administer.

But Republican leaders flatly refused his request that the measure be recalled although agreeing to make some changes to improve enforcemtnt and collection of the tax, to be put in a separate bill.

Tax Relief Next Year, Congressman Claims

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) said today taxpayers can count on substantial tax relief possibly this year but certainly by next year.

Simpson, a high-ranking Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, disclosed that he plans soon to introduce a bill to provide for billions of dollars worth of reductions in both personal income taxes and levies on corporation income.

Simpson said his bill would provide for a "modest increase" in the $600 personal exemptions and for some revisions in the taxation of capital gains. He said the measure is aimed at providing $5,500,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 in tax relief.

Simpson took issue with those who contend that big tax cuts must await sharp reductions in federal spending. He has been outspoken in his criticism of President Eisenhower's record-high spending budget.

"If we want to cut spending," he told a reporter, "the way to do it is to cut taxes. That will force the government to cut back spending to live within its income.

"I don't think we will ever get a substantial tax cut if we wait for a big federal surplus to develop."

He blamed the administration's record high spending budget on the fact that a sizable surplus was in prospect.

"The spenders in government saw a chance to enlarge their work areas and they proceeded to increase spending."

Simpson said he thought taxpayers would actually get relief totaling between $3,000,000,000 and $5,500,000,000 by next year.

"I'm bullish on tax relief," he said.

Commerce Budget Is Slashed by House Committee

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Appropriations Committee today slashed 26 per cent from the budget of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks who had "dared" Congress to cut it.

If approved by the House, the reduction will push over the one billion dollar mark the total cuts made by the House in President Eisenhower's record peacetime spending budget of $71,800,000,000

The committee approved $591,387,060 to run the Commerce Department in the next year instead of the $803,790,000 requested by Weeks.

It also trimmed the budget for a group of independent Commerce agencies from $50,075,000 to $45,649,400, and for the Panama Canal from $17,648,000 to $16,648,600.

All the cuts added up to $217,827,940.

The cuts pushed to $1,039,245,740 the total reductions imposed so far by the committee or by the House itself in acting on administration appropriation requests totaling $14,302,812,601. The total cuts amount to about 7.3 per cent of the amounts sought.

rains throughout the state today and tonight. Some partial clearing was expected Saturday with scattered showers and some thunderstorms likely.

Mild Temperatures Forecast

High temperatures today were expected to be mostly in the 40s and 50s. Lows tonight were forecast in the 30s and 40s. Temperatures for Saturday were predicted in the 50s and 60s.

The Weather Bureau said Pennsylvania currently is under the influence of a low pressure system covering the eastern third of the nation.

A high pressure area centered off New England and the Mid-Atlantic states creates an easterly wind circulation along the seaboard which breeds the moisture in the low pressure system, the Weather Bureau said.

Friends are being received at the Beinhauer Mortuary, 2630 West Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 10 p. m.

Bus Lines Asks Fare Increase

HARRISBURG (UP) — Two western Pennsylvania bus lines today proposed five cent increases on all cash fares effective April 29 for rides between Clairton, McKeesport, Pleasant Hills, and Pittsburgh.

The Public Utility Commission said the Mon Valley Bus Co. and Noble J. Dick Lines, both of Large, also asked authority to increase the cost of three school tokens from 25 to 35 cents. Cash fares on the lines would range from 10 to 65 cents under the proposed schedule.

The firms said they needed the additional revenue to offset higher operating costs. Mon Valley estimated its boost would return $33,300 more annually and the Dick line about $23,300.

Tattle Tale Eggs

CINCINNATI (UP)—Judge Joseph Woeste decided Thursday that Charles R. Pope wasn't wearing his breakfast egg on his shirt when officers arrested him. The judge gave Pope 30 days in jail on a charge of petty larceny for stealing a large crate of eggs from a poultry store. Police noticed the thief had broken some of the eggs when he apparently stumbled near the scene.

State Industrial Picture not Bad, Editors Are Told

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Pennsylvania's industrial picture "isn't nearly as bad as it seems," but a great job still lies ahead, according to deputy state Secretary of Commerce John T. Gross.

"I'm pretty optimistic, not pessimistic," Gross told the closing session of the seventh annual Pennsylvania Newspaper Editors seminar here Thursday.

He cited as encouraging developments:

—The state ranked fifth in the nation in private industrial construction in 1956 with $383,167,000, a 44 per cent increase over the previous year.

—A total of 448 new industrial projects last year directly provided 27,000 new jobs and 25,000 additional in connected services. Included were 140 new manufacturing projects with jobs for 16,000.

Gross said the state Industrial Development Authority has loaned $900,000 to communities and made commitments bringing the total to $3 million. He said this employment potential is 5,000 jobs.

Gross said that in addition, 75 communities have built, financed or helped build 110 plants, employing 27,000 workers with a payroll of $100 million a year.

"Climate and attitude of the local community are very important in influencing the location of a new plant," he said. "There is a necessity of changing the public attitude, developing pride in your community."

Israel Claims Pro-Soviets Moving on Jordan, Syria

By UNITED PRESS

Israel received reports today that overwhelmingly pro-Soviet elements were about to seize control of Jordan and Syria in moves that could touch off another major crisis in the Middle East.

Premier David Ben-Gurion was studying the reports closely for Israeli sources have said any such drastic change in the governments of Israel's neighbors would be a major new threat to its security.

A new warning came from Syria Thursday night that the Gulf of Aqaba was "Arab territorial waters" and that no ships could pass through without Egyptian and Saudi Arabian permission.

Egypt delayed publication of its "final memorandum" scheduled for Thursday night and began a hasty round of talks with U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo expressed belief the delay may indicate Egypt was willing to make some changes in its plan, but Egyptians said there would be no change in the decision to bar Israeli ships.

Egypt also appeared to be sending up trial balloons for a Geneva Conference between Egypt and the major canal users on its future.

Egypt considered its position strengthened by the increasing number of ships using the canal. The British tanker President Brand was reported by Egyptian sources to have applied for permission to transit the canal Saturday — on Egypt's terms.

The canal developments brought dismay in Jerusalem where officials felt they had been let down by the United States and by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Foreign Ministry officials said Hammarskjold's news conference statement in New York Thursday showed he was still prepared to underwrite all of the commitments undertaken by President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Pastor Re-named President of Church Conference

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP)— The Rev. H. Wahl Pfeifer, pastor of Trinity Church, Connellsville, was re-elected president of the Greensburg Conference of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran Church at a conference meeting here Thursday.

The 100 pastors and laymen attending the one-day meeting at Zion Lutheran Church here also reelected the Rev. John Reiner, of Latrobe Trinity, as vice-president; the Rev. Robert E. Kromer, of the Ruffsdale-Hunker parish, as secretary; and the Rev. John W. Hanks, of Belmont-Export parish, as treasurer.

Miss Alice K. Dorris, Zion parish, was nominated as trustee of Thiel College and the Rev. Andrew J. Rehbogen, pastor of Zion, as a member of the pastoral examining committee. Their names will be submitted to the synod meeting in June for final action.

Kelley School Bill Delayed

Supporters Want Compromise To Avoid Economy Drive

WASHINGTON (UP) — House supporters of a two billion dollar comprise school construction bill today devised a strategy of delay to steer clear of the congressional economy drive.

They planned to hold up the bill until early summer in hopes that the economy drive will have slowed by then. They said the school construction program never would get by budget cutters now.

A House education subcommittee approved the bill Thursday. It was a compromise between President Eisenhower's five-year, $1,300,000,000 program and a Democratic-sponsored plan calling for $3,600,000,000 to be spread over a six-year period.

Mr. Eisenhower continued his campaign for a construction program Thursday night. He told educators that "Our schools are more important than our Nike batteries . . . and more powerful even than the energy of the atom."

The new strategy of delay also is designed to skirt other possible pitfalls which might befall the compromise bill. Supporters feel that the House may have acted on a civil rights bill by late summer. That would ease pressure to include an anti-segregation clause in the measure—a clause that helped kill it last year.

The bill—designated "H.R. 1"—also was put under the sponsorship of Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (D-Pa.), a Catholic. Backers hoped this would attract some 50 or 60 Catholic votes.

Other congressional news:

Budget: House budget - cutters claimed to be nearing the one billion dollar mark in their cuts from President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget. The House Thursday night passed a lightly-cut $2,800,000,000 appropriations bill for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare Departments. The House Appropriations Committee quickly turned its economy knife to the proposed 878 million dollar budget for the Commerce Department.

Taxes: Rep. Richard Simpson Pa), high - ranking GOP tax bill writer, said he plans to introduce a bill to provide a $5,500,000,000 to six billion dollar tax cut. He said taxpayers can count on a substantial tax cut by next year.

Airlines: The Senate passed a bill guaranteeing domestic airlines a strong hand in future negotiations over grants to foreign airlines of air routes into the United States. The bill was sent to the House. Move followed the granting of new U.S. entry rights to the Dutch KLM airline.

Man Is Sought For Shooting and Beating Couple

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP)—Police looked today for a man who shot and critically wounded a Youngstown, Ohio, woman, severely beat her male companion and abandoned them near Pulaski, Pa.

The injured man, Gonzales Torres, 22 Shady St., Youngstown, made his way to the home of Mrs. Harold Straightwell, Pulaski RD 1, and she called state police who brought him to Jameson Hospital here. His condition was reported serious.

Officers searched the area near the Straightwell home and found Edith Stowe, also of Shady St., Youngstown, lying with 11 bullet wounds in her legs, buttocks and abdomen. She also had been beaten.

The victims identified their assailant as Jose Lamalle, of Youngstown. The woman said Torres picked her up in his automobile and told her they were going to get a car which was stuck in mud. They met Lamalle and drove to the place where the attacks occurred.

Torres said Lamalle beat him and left him tied and gagged. Police were unable to learn the motive for the attacks because of the condition of the victims.

Three Youngsters Rescued from Abandoned Vault

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Three youngsters who were locked up in a vault in an abandoned mansion said today "it felt like Edgar Allen Poe" when the massive door slammed shut with a "scary boom."

Frantic firemen worked for an hour and a half Thursday night to cut through the concrete and steel vault to rescue the two boys and a girl. Their parents stood with 300 neighbors in the floodlighted area as the rescue went on.

At last, a safe expert sprang the door with a single blow at the tumbler of its combination lock, and the three grinning youngsters filed out into the flare of the lights.

The youngsters were William Moore, a 6-foot 16-year-old with a crew cut; David Rude, 15; and Cheri Stevenson, 11. All are from well known families who live in the fashionable Pacific Heights district.

Chairman Named For Fluoridation Committees Here

Division chairmen were appointed at a meeting of the Monessen Committee for Water Fluoridation last night at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Mrs. John R. McGovern, general chairman, and Mrs. Joseph M. Dudas, Jr., co-chairman, presided at the meeting.

The division chairmen are:

George Cieply, radio and movies; Mrs. Robert Gilotty, printed materials; Charles W. Hagerstrand, exhibits; Henry Furio, school posters; Rabbi Theodore Stampfer, the Rev. John W. Govrusik, the Rev. Lester Crum and the Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, churches; W. R. H. Patterson, men's organizations; Mrs. Andrew Vitovic and Mrs. James Lutson, women's organizations; Drs. R. E. Palmer, Jr., and Joseph M. Dudas, Jr., dentists and physicians; John Kotch, Jr., public officials; Olive Pannabaker, telephone, and Larry Doyle, publicity.

Slated to Become New Ambassador

MEXICO CITY (UP)—The United States has asked the Mexican government to approve Robert C. Hill as the new U.S. ambassador to Mexico, Foreign Minister Luis Padilla Nervo said Thursday.

Padilla said Hill is scheduled to replace Francis White who will be transferred to Sweden.

Senate to Continue Probe of Diplomats

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee planned today to push ahead with a general investigation of U.S. diplomats in the Mideast despite Canada's bitterness over the suicide of its envoy, named in the Senate inquiry.

Six of the nine subcommittee members signed a statement saying the group will continue in its "duty" to disclose "evidence... that certain foreign nationals have engaged in...Communist activity in the United States."

The statement was its only commentary of the death leap in Cairo Thursday of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt. Subcommittee counsel Robert Morris said March 12 the subcommittee had "a great deal of information" to the effect that Norman was a Communist.

Canadians Hurt Charges

Feelings in Canada, which said Norman was cleared of such charges, ran so high that one member of the Canadian Parliament called his suicide nothing short of "murder by slander." Spokesmen of opposing political parties pointed directly at the Senate subcommittee as responsible for Norman's death.

Members of the U.S. Congress were extremely reluctant to comment. One of the few to discuss the affair publicly, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters:

"I for one deeply regret what has happened. Our relations with Canada and the people of that great country are far too precious and important to be marred or endangered. This situation will require the most sober and calm reflection."

The first official statement by the U.S. government was likewise restrained. It was a message from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson expressing Dulles' "regret and...sincere condolence."

Relations At Stake

Unofficially expressed feelings at the State Department, however, ran high. Some officials were reported to have telephoned the Canadian Embassy here to say, "This is a hell of a note."

Administration officials expressed fear privately the incident may put a temporary chill on U.S. relations with Canada. But these officials quickly added they do not expect any real break in this country's long record of friendship with its northern neighbor.

As one official put it, "Relations with Canada are deeper than any individual, no matter how tragic the case."

Centennial Observed By MEA Last Night

The Monessen Education Association and guests from civic and fraternal organizations met last evening in the high school auditorium to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the National Education Association.

Clifford Jones, MEA president, in charge at the meeting, which was prepared by the NEA birthday party committee under the chairmanship of Margaret L. Russell.

The program consisted of:

A welcome by Jones; four selections by the Crooning Belles, directed by Reah Seanor; a talk by Tyyne Hanninen in which she highlighted the growth of the NEA; an early history of the Monessen Public Schools by Mrs. Raymond Johnson; the introduction of guests by Jones; and the presentation of the NEA centennial film, "A Desk for Billie", based on the true story of Billie Davis, noted writer and lecturer.

On stage a birthday cake, prepared by members of Mary Breza's art class, reflected the advances already made by the NEA in procuring better schools for all children, in teacher welfare, in public relations, in financial support, in legislation and in teacher preparation.

Following the program, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the social committee assisted by members of the Future Teachers of America Club.

The NEA centennial theme, "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward" has a three-fold objective; to consider the decisive role of education in a changing world; to stimulate action to provide education for the increasing millions of children; and to strengthen the teaching profession in its service to people of all ages.

At the centennial convention to be held in Philadelphia from June 30 to July 6, representatives of the 659,000 association members will convene to consider methods of achieving these goals and of providing even better schools.

Lions Club in Minstrel Show Reports Here

The Monessen Lions Club heard reports on the annual minstrel show to be staged May 1 and 2 and made plans for a District 14 E rally at a dinner session held last night in the Slovak Home.

Vice President Daniel Salotti conducted the meeting in the absence of President William Essey, who was attending a zone meeting in Scottdale. Invocation was given by Dave Victoria and osng leader was Julio Gelli.

Minstrel reports were given by Joseph Lancas, co - chairman, James Altamore, producer; William Pushkar, ticket chairman and Glenn Chew, who is in charge of programs.

The next meeting was changed from April 18 to 22, when the local club will be the host group for a District 14 E rally at Twin Coaches. John L. Stickley, president of Lions International, will be guest of honor and speaker. Dave Victoria outlined the duties of the local club concerning this affair.

Program Chairman Ben Massa presented a variety entertainment with the following performers taking part, Billy Essey, Gary Winfield, Marijo Chunkala, Carol Ann Murin, Sonny Winfield, Veronica Zelenak and Shirles Althea Essey.

Teamster Aide Denies He Gave Out Any 'Tips'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The attorney for Teamster Secretary-Treasurer John English today virogously denied published reports that English had given "tips or encouragement" to the Senate Rackets Committee.

The attorney, Herbert Thatcher, indicated that English had been accused by the Teamsters executive board of being a "stool pigeon" as a result of the reports published Wednesday.

Thatcher emphasized that English had volunteered no information to the committee, which has been investigating the finances of Teamster President Dave Beck and alleged links between his union and the underworld. The committee charges Beck took $322,000 of Teamster cash for his own use.

The attorney said English had given information only in answer to specific questions and handed over documents only when subpenaed.

Girls Club Gives To Help Children

Several gifts purchased by the West Penn Girls Club, of Cabin Hill in Greensburg, have been presented to the Westmoreland County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

The club, made up of 143 female employes of West Penn Power Co., gave 12 sleeping cots, a three-speed record player, double painting easel, four puzzles and a $25 check for records.

Janet Eisaman, vice-president of the club and chairman of the project, and Canice Kostelnik and Elma Lowther made the formal presentation.

Insurance Agent Awarded Medal

Russell C. Thompson, a North Belle Vernon insurance agent representing the Fidelity-Phenix Fire Insurance Company, has been presented with a gold medal in token of 25 years service with the company.

The presentation was made by C. M. Berlin, field man for the company. Thompson also received a letter of commendation from J. Victor Herd, president.

Officers Installed By VFW

The newly-elected commander of Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars, John Hurrianko, was installed at special services held last night in the Post home.

Other officers installed by Past Commander Philip Columbus were:

Walter Kwolek, senior vice commander; Socrates Loulis, junior vice commander; Richard Pustelak, quartermaster; Vincent LaRiccia, judge advocate; Paul Komar, chaplain; and Michael Smertka, Jr., trustee.

New Members

Three new members were accepted. They are Robert Skowronski, 540 Rostraver street and Manuel J. Monios, 239 Schoonmaker avenue, both of Monessen, and Raymond Alonzo, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon.

A detailed report was presented by the Athletic Chairman, Frederic Feldman on activities for the coming spring and summer season.

The ninth annual marble tournament will be held at the Memorial Civic Center. The local winner will compete in the state tournament to be held in Greensburg, May 25.

Arrangements were also announced for participation in the Little League Baseball program again.

A social hour followed the installation ceremony. Open house was held by the officers.

District Group Amateur Winners

A trumpet trio from Washington Township won third prize in the annual amateur contest held by Lions clubs of District 14E at the Greensburg High School.

Twenty-six contesting units from Westmoreland and Fayette counties participated.

Adenauer Wants A-Weapons

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today demanded tactical atomic weapons for West Germany. He implied this nation also might demand heavy atom bombs rather than be left behind in the world's nuclear arms race.

The chancellor told a news conference that tactical atomic weapons today are "nothing but a further development of artillery" and that West Germany's armed forces must have the newest types of arms.

Asked whether this included heavy A-bombs too, Adenauer did not reply directly.

But he remarked pointedly that Great Britain "now has joined the United States and Soviet Russiaa in deciding to become an atomic power."

"This is a development that cannot be halted until there is general agreement on controlled limitation of arms and no nation can afford to stand by and simply watch it," he said.

This left the impression with reporters that Germany wants A-bombs.

Adenauer's statement came several hours after Moscow Radio, in a broadcast monitored in London, warned Britain, The Netherlands and West Germany against establishing bases for nuclear weapons in their countries.

The broadcast threatened Western European countries with "annihilation" if nuclear attacks on Soviet Union were launched from their North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases.

Take the Police Out of Politics

ONE DOES not need to be very close to the City Hall in Monessen to realize that the Police Department is very much involved in the contest for the Democratic mayoralty nomination.

With few exceptions, every man on the police force does double duty as a small-bore politician. Most of the officers were selected in the first place because of some racial or nationalistic affiliation. And when election time comes around, they are expected to turn this affiliation into votes.

In the present campaign, we understand, there is a split in the department, and some of the officers are supporting Mayor Parente for reelection and some are opposing him. Whatever the reason for this, we suppose it could be said that the split indicates that the Police Department is no longer a political tool of the City administration — at least not a dependable tool.

It's our opinion, however, that policemen shouldn't be active in politics — for or against anybody. They should be selected originally on the basis of their qualifications to be policemen, not because they are influential in clubs or among nationality groups. And once they become policemen, nothing should be expected of them except that they enforce the laws, protect our property, preserve order, control traffic and otherwise contribute to keeping Monessen a safe and pleasant community.

This is the kind of police department we believe most citizens would like to see Monessen have — entirely non-political. And we have reason to think it is the kind of department many of the policemen — all the better ones — would prefer to work for.

Why can't we have such a police department? Why can't we end this silly tradition that every cop has to be a political stooge for the mayor, passing out parking tickets with one hand and scrounging votes with the other?

We have a couple of questions to put to the two candidates for Mayor, Mr. Parente and John R. Stieska:

Gentlemen, will you promise if elected to do your best to take the Police Department out of politics and politics out of the Police Department? And if not, why not?

We think the people of Monessen would be genuinely interested in some straight answers to those questions.

About Foreign Aid

OF ALL the complicated subjects which enter into our country's national and international life, we know of none which the average citizen must find more difficult to understand and form good judgments about than foreign aid.

Year after year, ever since the close of World War II, the American government has been distributing billions and billions of dollars in every part of the globe, and it is planned in Washington to continue this practice indefinitely.

But is this necessary? What are these billions buying? Do they represent charity or are they related to the vital self-interests of this country? What would happen if we were to stop foreign aid?

These are but a few of the massive questions that plague the conscientious citizen who tries to think rationally about foreign aid. And they all deserve the most earnest thought and study of such citizens if our representatives in Congress are to be guided properly in their decisions.

We cannot recommend to our readers too strongly the article by Walter Lippmann which is printed on this page today. The reader will not find it very entertaining or titillating. It contains no "inside dope" and no red hot predictions. The article is simply an effort by one of the best informed commentators writing for American newspapers to present the fundamental justification for our foreign aid expenditures.

The reader may disagree with Mr. Lippmann's conclusion that what is called foreign aid is but the financial implementation of the nation's foreign policy and that, if we are to eliminate or substantially curtail foreign aid, we must at the same time get a new foreign policy. Our own opinion happens to be in general agreement with Mr. Lippmann.

But agree or disagree, we believe the citizen who takes the time to read Mr. Lippmann's discussion will have a better grasp of this important question than he had before. And this is why we thus call it to special attention.

Merry-Go-Round—

87 Senators Duck Vote On Oil Tax

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A little-noticed but vitally important incident took place on the Senate floor the other day. It occurred in full view of the press galleries, but very little appeared in the newspapers about it.

Two senators, first a Republican, Williams of Delaware; then a Democrat, Douglas of Illinois, tried to get a roll-call vote on a move to reduce the tax concessions given to the big oil and gas companies. They could not get even 10 senators to raise their hands.

Mr. Pearson

The 10 hands needed were not necessarily to vote against the oil companies, but to record the vote either for or against oil. But 87 senators ducked out, didn't want the public to know how they voted on oil

When you couple this with the hundreds of thousands of dollars dumped into the presidential and Senate campaigns last year, it indicates a political circle of great importance to the American people.

The circle goes round and round, like this: "The oil men get tax concessions. They use the money they save on taxes to elect their friends as senators and their man as President. Then their senators cooperate by voting for continued tax concessions."

Little of this, however, was recorded for the public to read and know about.

Here is the full story of what happened.

Honest Tax Champion

Sen. Williams is a stanch Republican turkey farmer and feed dealer who, coming from the DuPont state of Delaware, could not easily be elected if he were not a conservative. He had been waging a long-time campaign for honest taxes and honest tax collection. For a time, he got some support from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who stated publicly that the 27-½ per cent depletion allowance given the oil industry was too much.

Before the corporate tax bill came up for renewal last week, therefore, Williams appealed to Humphrey to support a reduction. Humphrey declined. Williams nevertheless moved in the Senate to reduce the 27½ per cent tax bonanza to 15 per cent. He got nowhere.

So two fellow Republicans, Aiken of Vermont and Potter of Michigan, gave him whispered advice to try a compromise at 20 per cent. He did so. But a roar of negative votes drowned this proposal too.

Those leading the "no" chorus were Democrats Lyndon Johnson of Texas, great friend of the oil lobby, Russell Long of Louisiana, who owns underwater oil lands in the Gulf of Mexico; and Frank Carlson (Kans.) with Everett Dirksen (Ill.), Republicans.

Williams then tried for a show of hands to get a roll-call vote to require senators' names to be recorded for and against the oil companies. He got only four hands: Douglas (Ill.), Neuberger (Ore.), Democrats; with Aiken and his own (Williams') hand, Republicans.

Then Douglas, a former economics professor at the University of Chicago and a tax expert, proposed a further compromise. He urged that little oil companies with a net income of less than $1,000,000 be allowed the full 27-½ per cent tax benefit. Companies with a net income of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, he proposed, should get 20 per cent allowance. Companies making more than $5,000,000, he moved, should get 15 per cent.

This, however, was also roated down, Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson led the chorus.

Pocketbook Senator

Then Douglas asked for a roll-call vote. He needed 10 hands. The Democrats pride themselves on being the champions of little business and the common man. Only six of them, however, were willing to stand up and be counted: Lausche of Ohio, McNamara of Michigan, Humphrey of Minnesota, Carroll of Colorado, Neuberger and Douglas. Three Republicans also raised their hands: Javits of New York, Aiken and Williams.

While Williams and Douglas made repeated pleas for a roll-call vote, Senators Long, Kerr, Carlson and Dirksen, together with Lyndon Johnson, slipped around on the Senate floor, urging colleagues to keep their hands down.

Afterward Sen. Kerr confided to Charlie Murray, son of the elder statesman Senator from Montana: "If they'd got a roll call, the opposition could have rolled up 40 votes against us."

By "us" he meant the oil companies. Sen. Kerr, through his company, Kerr-McGee owns $10,000,000 of oil-gas lands, on which he has received a gross income as high as $14,000,000. In 1950 his net was $1,218,627, on which his company paid a tax of only $6,949 — as a result of generous tax benefits given the oil industry.

A senator who has a pocketbook interest in any legislation is not supposed to vote on it, let alone orate by. But Sen. Kerr was busy as a one-man filibuster blocking any roll call on the oil depletion allowance.

Debtors' Prison

Today and Tomorrow—

What Is Our Foreign Aid?

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There is, as we know, widespread and growing public opposition to the foreign aid programs of the government. We have just about reached the time when a continuation of these programs cannot be taken for granted. Senator Green, who is chairman of the Special Committee to Study Foreign Aid, points out that while there has been a gradual decrease in the sums appropriated, there has been a gradual increase, as reflected by votes in the Senate, in the opposition.

Mr. Lippmann

In 1948, there were only seven votes cast against the final passage of the Marshall Plan. Last year, there were 30 votes, equally divided between the two parties, cast against final passage of the Mutual Security appropriation bill. There would have been more votes cast against it had not the administration accepted a reduced appropriation and coupled that with a promise to reappraise the entire program. There is reason to think that this year the opposition is still larger and is more determined.

Facts Unavailable

The subject of foreign aid is extremely complicated, and many of the important facts are either secret and unavailable or they are masked to affect opinion abroad or opinion in Congress. Sometimes, for example, in order to make a better impression abroad, what is really military aid is presented as civilian aid. At other times, in order to impress Congress, what is predominantly civilian aid will be presented as military aid. All in all, it is not astonishing that the American people do not feel happy about an expensive program which is so hard to understand.

In this atmosphere there has grown up a general popular misapprehension about the whole subject. It is that the government is taking every year something like $4 billion out of the American national income, at the expense of the American standard of life, and is giving away this money to raise the standard of life of all sorts of people all over the globe.

The truth is that virtually all the money is spent to support and to hold together the great military coalition, of which the United States is the head, that surrounds the Soviet Union and Red China. What we call foreign aid is the annual upkeep of the system of military alliances which was inaugurated under Truman and has been extended and elaborated under Eisenhower.

Began As Relief

The popular notion about foreign aid was true enough in the immediate post-war years. Then, great sums of money were used to raise the prostrate economy of Western Europe, of Germany, of Japan and of other countries which had suffered from the war. During the five years between the end of the war and the Korean invasion only about $1.5 billion out of a total of $26 billion went for direct military assistance. Most of the balance went for relief, rehabilitation and reconstruction. A great deal of what is now thought and felt about foreign aid in this country is based on what was done in the way of foreign aid before 1950.

Now it is different. In the six years after the Korean invasion, out of a total of $30 billion of aid, $17 billion, or nearly 60 per cent, has gone into direct military assistance, and it is fair to add that a very large proportion of the balance of economic aid has gone into indirect military assistance.

Thus for example in the current fiscal year Congress has appropriated $3.7 billion of which all but $600 million — about 16 per cent — is military in purpose either in the form of military equipment or of economic support. What is more, a large proportion of the non-military aid is used for strategic and political purposes.

Four Conclusions

There are four conclusions which we might draw from the facts and they should be kept in mind when we discuss foreign aid.

The first is that foreign aid, tremendous as it has been in dollars and in effort since the end of the war, cannot be shown by the facts to have gone "down the drain" and to be nothing but an unending and self-perpetuating handout. The overwhelming bulk of our economic aid has gone for relief and war reconstruction. The countries we have helped — Europe and particularly our two former enemies, Germany and Japan — have made remarkable recoveries. This type of aid has now stopped completely. What we have now is military assistance, not assistance for reconstruction, rehabilitation or even for development. By its very nature military assistance tends to be at least partially a recurring demand.

Not Much Development

The second conclusion is that we are not engaged on a large-scale program to promote the development of under-developed countries. There are some, myself included, who think we ought to have such a large-scale program, and that it is essential to the working out of a happy accommodation between East and West. But the fact is that we do not have such a program now, and it is time to stop fooling ourselves that we do have one.

If we wish to undertake a genuine and effective program, it will involve larger appropriations for foreign aid — though not much larger — rather than smaller, and it will require a long-term commitment. What we have now is primarily and overwhelmingly a program to subsidize our military alliances.

This leads to the third conclusion, which is that when we debate cutting out or cutting down drastically the foreign aid program, what we are really dealing with is the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy as they operate it. There is no way to separate the policy from the foreign aid, which is simply and almost solely the money needed to make the policy work.

And finally it should be clear from all this that foreign aid in its present form could not be entrusted to international administration or control. Nor could its burden on the American taxpayer be appreciably reduced by asking other nations to contribute to these programs. For they are in essence instruments of United States foreign policy and are designed to serve American national interests.

Alliances Are Key

Nearly 40 per cent of last year's expenditures was for military hardware, as they call it in the Pentagon, and for facilities essential to the maintenance of NATO. Another 45 per cent or more went to subsidize the military efforts of such allies as Greece, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, South Vietnam, Formosa and South Korea. Total economic and military aid for South Korea is now costing $600 million a year. For Formosa and for South Vietnam, it is costing between $200 and $300 million each.

When the Congress does begin to discuss the appropriations for foreign aid, it cannot ignore the relation of these funds to our existing alliances.

Whether the policy of these alliances is wisely conceived is a totally different question, which very few, virtually none, of the opponents of foreign aid are as yet seriously discussing.

The Woman's View—

Friend of Princess Now Working Girl

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Sharman Douglas, who used to double date with Britain's Princess Margaret, now is keeping company with a Nine-to-Six job in Manhattan.

The career girl role appears to be a pretty steady one for the only daughter of Lewis Douglas, former ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

Gay Pauley

The 28-year-old Miss Douglas said she had no immediate plans for marriage; doesn't even have a steady boy friend.

She also said she didn't know of any marital plans her old friend, the 26-year-old princess might have. "And if I did, I wouldn't talk about them. The princess and queen are friends of mine and I don't talk about my friends."

Takes Job Seriously

Well, that was that, so far as gossip about the royal family was concerned.

Back to her new life, minus the old-time limelight.

"I want it clear that I am a working girl," said she. "I'm serious about my job," indicating that some people hadn't been taking her seriously.

She joined a New York and Los Angles public relations firm in January and in a few days will begin a tour of U.S. cities to publicize a new British-made film, "Battle Hell."

"Now, I'll see my own country," she said. Miss Douglas has spent most of her grown-up years in England — four of them while her father was ambassador from 1946 to 1950. She has returned for extended visits since.

This is not her first job; for a year she was on the staff of the late Alexander Korda in London and more recently worked for a motion picture studio in Hollywood.

She now calls Los Angeles home. "I have an apartment right across the street from Beverly Hills," she said. "Minus swimming pool, and minus a view."

Uses Parents' Apartment

While in Manhattan, she lives in her parents' apartment.

"I don't think my life is really so different now," she said. "I still am active socially . . . I have a lot of old friends here.

"Sure, I enjoyed the spotlight when we lived in London. What girl wouldn't! But I think I am sensible enough not to miss that."

Miss Douglas, as the ambassador's daughter, used to be squired by some of the blue-blooded set's most eligible men. In 1950, when her father resigned, she let the gossip columnists in on why she had remained single. The publicity that hit every man seen once in her company drove them away, she explained.

Why, then, is she still single?

"Well," she smiled, "I could say nobody's proposed. . .

"I come from a family of late marriages. And I seem to be getting later and later."

The Lighter Side—

Deadbeats Everywhere, Including Park Avenue

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)— The most-unpaid bills in New York are those owed the grocer, the butcher, the laundryman.

The hardest to collect are those owed the dentist.

The "Park Avenue Crowd" of alleged elite are "getting to be pretty terrible on payment of bills."

Those are the opinions of Abraham Miller, a bill collector, process server, and tracer of skipped persons who estimates that in the last 25 years he has collected more than 5,000 bills and served around 500 legal papers everywhere from City Hall to gangsters' back rooms.

Deadbeatism, he says, cuts across all layers of civilization. You just can't pick out one type of person and say his type leaves more bills unpaid than any other.

Living Beyond Means

"Take actors," said Abe. "I get quite a few unpaid actors and actresses. The thing is, you got to time them when they got money. If they have it, you'll get it.

"Take Park Avenue — I'd say 25 per cent of the people I deal with there are living beyond their means. The wife has charge accounts in most of the department stores. I been working Park Avenue for over 25 years and it's only in the last six or seven years that there's trouble. In the old days if I got a Park Avenue case I'd simply make a call and it'd be paid.

"But now they're away seven or eight months a year, and you can't get hold of them. Four or five months in Florida, then back in town a month or so, then away someplace else.

"Also, on Park Avenue we have this thing which is what we call kept women. A fellow gets an apartment, and he's living with a lady friend a la carte. She comes in to a butcher and says she's Mrs. Jones, her boy friend's name, and has this good address, and wants to open a charge account and the butcher says gladly. Well, the boy friend pays, but only as long as they're on friendly terms."

Like Pulling Teeth

Abe says dentist bills are the hardest to collect because "people put in counter claims that they can't eat, can't sleep, dentures fall out — you get an upper or lower plate, you can always find something wrong with it."

Abe said he goes to Florida quite often tracing persons who have skipped town owing bills, and he's been as far as New Orleans on this same mission. He says relatives are valuable for learning where a person has gone. "We find that in every family there's somebody who doesn't like you." In-laws are particularly valuable.

Serving summonses can be hazardous. Once Abe tricked his way into an apartment house by carrying a dummy package addressed to the man for whom he had a summons. He got by the doorman by having "personal receipt requested" written on the package.

"I rang the guy's bell. He says, 'Who's there?'" I says, 'Western Union.' He opens. I hand him the summons, he tackles me, and we tumble down a flight of 12 stone stairs. I guess he won the fight. I found out later he was a professional football player."

SEVEN TEAMS IN MON VALLEY GROUP

ON THE BALL

By ALLEN KLINE

Jointure No Help to CHS Sports Teams

That proposed school jointure involving Charleroi, Fallowfield Twp., North Charleroi, Speers, Allenport, Dunlevy, Stockdale and Twilight, will have little or no effect on Charleroi High sports teams even if it develops. Practically all students from those districts already attend CHS . . . The McKeesport Daily News Baseball League requires teams to post a $250 forfeit . . . The St. Vincent College basketball team, playing under a Greensburg commercial name, is currently making a strong bid for the title in the Ford City tournament. The Bearcats have already wrapped up the Scottdale crown.

Bill Canterna Interested in New Job

Bill Canterna, now head basketball coach at Ellwood City, is reportedely interested in the Greensburg High vacancy. Canterna, a former Duquesne University whiz, is a brother of St. Vincent coach Orland (Dodo) Canterna . . . The fifth annual Cumberland (Md.) sports car races will be held on May 17, 18, and 19 this year. Over 200 leading drivers representing 20 states and several foreign countries have indicated that they intend to enter the event . . . The Monessen-at-Charleroi baseball game, originally scheduled for May 9, has been moved back a day so as not to conflict with the MHS all-sports banquet.

DeLuca Predicts Success for Donelli

St. Vincent College football coach Al DeLuca visited with his old pal, Buff Donelli, at Columbia University the other day. "Give Buff a couple of years and he'll have a winner up there," comments Al . . . The Veterans of Foreign Wars in Uniontown have started a drive for funds to build a baseball park for their "Teener" team. The ambitious Uniontown VFW boys hope to eventually lure the state and national "Teener" playoffs, a nation-wide project of the Veterans . . . A couple of the smaller Class A schools have asked for Class B status in next year's Westmoreland County basketball tournament. The sponsoring County Coaches Association has promised to consider the requests.

School Nines Are Still Idle

Wet grounds and threatened showers promised to completely wipe out the exhibition schedule for schoolboy baseballers today.

All games rained out in the district yesterday were hopefully rescheduled for this afternoon, but there's little chance that they will be played.

The West Newton-at-Monessen game may be recarded for next Wednesday.

Bellmar was to play South Huntingdon yesterday but rain took care of that tussle.

That means there will probably be no schoolboy action until Monday when the WPIAL season begins.

Opening Games

Opening Section 17 games will show Bellmar at Monessen, Charleroi at California and Monongahela at Donora.

Next Thursday Monessen will go to Monongahela. Donora to Charleroi and California to Bellmar.

Charleroi, with a veteran team back, is favored to successfully defend its title. However Monongahela figures to make a strong bid while California rules as an outside threat.

Revoke License Of Owner of Tropical Park

MIAMI (UP) — Heavy-betting Saul Silberman was ready to take his chances on the Florida Supreme Court today to save him from losing his $4,000.000 Tropical Park race track.

The state Racing Commission Thursday revoked the license of Tropical Park Inc., because its president made huge bets "on credit" through the parimutuel machines and permitted his private telephone to be used for calls to a convicted Cleveland bookmaker.

But attorneys for the stumpy, roly-poly millionaire said Silberman would apply by the May 1 deadline for Tropical's regular racing dates, starting shortly after Thanksgiving. In the meantime, an appeal will be rushed to the state Supreme Court. The commission plans to allot racing dates for the 1957-58 season on May 15.

If the court rejects the appeal, Silberman would have to sell the track, close it, or consent to step completely out of its operation along with all his present associates.

But the dapper little track chief snapped that "the track is not for sale" when newsmen approached him for comment on the race board's ruling.

Calhoun Signs to Meet Giardello

CLEVELAND (UP)—Rory Calhoun of New York and Joey Giardello of Philadelphia have signed to meet in a 10-round welterweight bout at the Cleveland Arena, April 16. In his last start Giardello wound up in a no-decision hassle at Kansas City with Willie Vaughn.

MHS to Sponsor Girls Net Team This Season

Feminine athletes at Monessen High will get their chance at last.

Principal Henry Furio announced today that MHS will sponsor a girls tennis team this season. It will be the first feminine club to represent the school in years.

The decision to organize the girls team is the latest move on the part of MHS officials to have their young ladies enrolled in the WPIAL sports program.

Last year, Furio attempted to have the WPIAL okay tennis star Mary Katsuleris and golf standout Jane Williams. Both girls are so good at their chosen sport that they are more than a match for most boys.

However WPIAL president William Dolde said no, pointing out that the WPIAL has a ruling which limits all sports except rifle shooting to boys.

Make Plans

That prompted MHS officials to make plans for a girls tennis team. They talked to other valley school administrators and received encouragement.

So a valley tennis section has been formed corresponding to the boys set-up. When the boys play WPIAL matches this season, the young ladies will play on the next court.

Thus Miss Katsuleris will have a chance to display her tennis talents on behalf of MHS at long last. She is regarded as the finest junior feminine player in the Pittsburgh district.

There is talk that the school may organize a girls golf team, too, if any opponents can be found. That would give Miss Williams a chance to show her skill on the fairways.

Expresses Interest

When informed of Monessen's plan to organize girls teams, Dolde expressed interest.

"There's no reason why the WPIAL couldn't sponsor a program entirely for girls," he said. "Perhaps this is the first step in that direction."

Dolde pointed out that varsity sports for girls have never been popular because physical education teachers consider most of them too strenuous.

However tennis and golf have long been regarded as "safe" sports for the girls.

Offers to Buy Redskin Franchise

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP)— The Charlotte Observer reported today in a copyrighted story that a Washington attorney has offered to buy the Washington Redskins professional football club with a view to moving it either here or to Miami.

The story, by sports writer Dick Pierce, said attorney Ralph W. Gardner made the offer to Redskins' majority stockholder George Preston Marshall.

Vic Seixas Will Pick His Tourneys

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UP) — Former Wimbledon and U.S. singles champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who has announced he is quitting tennis, said Tuesday he would compete in choice tournaments. The 33-year-old Seixas said he would seek security in the business field and "I have reached the stage where tennis must take a secondary position."

Spieser, Anthony Fight for Right To Meet Moore

DETROIT (UP) —Two of the hardest punchers to come along the light heavyweight pike in many a day meet tonight in a 12-rounder for the right to try and knock the crown off the graying head of ol' Archie Moore.

Olympia Stadium promoter Nick Londes said a crowd of 10,000 will pay close to $25,000 to watch the nationally televised fight.

Chuck Spieser of Detroit and Tony Anthony of New York at weigh-in time stood in the peak of condition, both well under the 175-pound limit. Spieser, 27, hairy-chested, bald-headed muscleman out of Michigan State University and Olympic boxing, was at 172½. Anthony, slim, brownskinned ex-Golden Glover, was about a pound heavier.

Top-ranked contender Spieser was favored at more than 2-1.

Spieser has knocked out 14 of his 19 beaten opponents. Anthony has 22 knockouts among his 29 victories.

The winner is assured a crack at Moore in the same Olympia ring June 7. The ancient champion, weighing a jolly 210 pounds, signed here for the bout 10 days ago.

Panthers, Irish Each Win Pair

Panthers won two games from the Trojans and Irish took a pair from the Bulldogs in GAPA Bowling League action last night.

Top scorers were Paul Ciccarilli, 201-490; Gus Kootouradis, 173-450; Demo Kafkalas, 187-450; and John Apodiakos, 167-430.

Standings show Bulldogs, 24-15; Trojans, 20-19; Irish, 20-19; and Panthers, 14-25.

Picked to Race In '500' Grind

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Veteran drivers Jimmy Daywalt and Gene Hartley were assured of cars in the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile Auto Race today when they were named to ride for H. H. Johnson of Chula Vista, Calif., and Joe Madsaglia Jr. of Santa Monica, Calif., respectively.

District Spikers Bow Early

Both Monessen and Rostraver made early exits in the Junior WPIAL Volleyball Tournament yesterday which was won for the fourth straightt year by Munhall.

The Monessen boys, tutored by John (Corky) DeMillion, drew a first round bye, but they lost their first start to Clairton Walnut by 11-8 and 11-0 scores.

Coach Ed Hogan's Rostraver lads lost their first test to champion Munhall, 11-0 and 11-2.

Neither the Rostraver nor Monessen setback came as any surprise. Both clubs were inexperienced and no one considered them serious threats.

Coaches of the two teams said they were pleased with their students despite the decisive lickings.

"We had lots of fun," said Hogan.

"We learned a lot," added DeMillion.

A total of 22 teams took part in the day-long show at Braddock.

Here are the complete tournament results.

First Round

Clairton Walnut over Park Terrace, 11-8; 10-12 and 11-7; Munhall over Rostraver, 11-0 and 11-2; North Hills over Aliquippa, 11-1; 6-11 and 11-8; Carroll Twp. over Braddock, 11-4 and 11-9; Homestead over Blawnox, 11-2 and 11-7; Youngwood over Duquesne, 11-5 and 11-9; Swissvale over New Kensington Fourth, 11-1 and 11-7.

Second Round

Clairton Walnut over Monessen, 11-8 and 11-0; Munhall over Greensburg, 11-0 and 11-1; Calhoun over North Hills, 11-1 and 11-4; New Kensington Stewart over Charleroi, 11-3 and 11-5; Turtle Creek over Carroll Twp., 7-11, 12-10 and 11-7; Homestead over Clairton Fifth, 11-3 and 11-3; O'Hara over Youngwood, 9-11, 11-10 and 11-8.

Third Round

Swissvale over Clairton Walnut, 11-7 and 11-1; Munhall over Calhoun, 11-0 and 11-5; Turtle Creek over New Kensington Stewart, 11-5 and 11-7; Homestead over O'Hara, 11-8 and 11-7.

Semi-Finals

Munhall over Swissvale, 11-6 and 11-5; Homestead over Turtle Creek, 11-2 and 11-5.

Finals

Munhall over Homestead, 11-6 and 11-1.

Panther Tackle Drops from School

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Wally Walinchus of Mahonoy City, Pa., reserve sophomore tackle on the University of Pittsburgh football team, has dropped out of school because of scholastic difficulties.

Walinchus, who saw only limited action last season, had adequate grades to meet college requirements, but his quality point average was not sufficient to admit him to the School of Education.

Eighth Club Also Expresses Interest In Baseball League

Seven teams indicated last night that they "definitely" intend to enter the Mon Valley Baseball League this season, while an eighth club said maybe.

Represented at the reorganization meeting in the Monessen Sport Shop were the Monessen Ozarks, Donora CIO, Charleroi Merchants, New Eagle and Van Voorhis.

In addition, Perryopolis Sons of Italy and Fayette City sent word during the session to the effect that they will field teams again this year.

Also present were representatives from Finleyville. They reported that a meeting will be held in that community Sunday to determine whether or not to sponsor a club.

The Finleyville problem stems from a flood last summer which washed out a good part of their field. It will require a great deal of work to get the diamond back in shape.

Expresses Hope

However Ray Glaser, who represented Finleyville, expressed hope that the long-standing member of the MVL will be back again.

During the meeting, the member teams voted unanimously to ask George Kuvinka to reconsider his decision to resign as league commissioner.

Said MVL president Peter (Bud) Roman:

"All of the teams want Kuvinka back. They feel he did an excellent job by ruling with a stern hand. He has been mainly responsible for the league's success in recent years."

There are indications that Kuvinka will accept the league's offer to return as boss.

It was decided to delay the start of the current season until the second week in May. A schedule will be drawn later.

It was also unanimously agreed to forget about a proposal which would extend the length of player contracts longer than a year.

The next meeting will be held on April 11 in the Sport Shop.

Representatives at the meeting include Tony Mascetta, of the Ozarks; Al Caruso, of Charleroi; Vic Furiga of New Eagle; Harry Sickels, of Donora, and Glaser, who also acted on behalf of John Barkey of Van Voorhis.

Little League Meeting Tonight

A regularly scheduled meeting of the Monessen Little League Baseball Association will be held tonight at Memorial Civic Center beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Secretary George Bonari said that all members are urged to attend since many important matters will be discussed relative to the upcoming season.

Hart, Stevenson to Meet on April 15

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweights Garnett (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia and Willie (Pineapple) Stevenson of Boston have signed to meet in the featured 12-round televised bout at the St. Nicholas Arena, April 15.

Notre Dame in Bowling Sweep

Notre Dame swept over Fordham in St. Cajetan Bowling League action Wednesday night.

In other matches, Duquesne won a pair from St. Francis and St. Vincent took two from Georgetown.

Scoring leaders were Armand Niccolai, 175-468; Joe Fuoco, 145-399; Jimmy Salvino, 149-408; Ralph Greco, 174-489; Tom Dalfonso, 174-475; and Ray Simon, 165-458.

Standings show Notre Dame, 27-9, St. Vincent, 20-16; Duquesne, 19-17; St. Francis, 18-18; Georgetown, 15-21; and Fordham, 7-29.

Redstone Not in 'Big Six' Plans

Proposed New Grid Constitution Presented to All but Redstone

The first formal constitution in the Big Six Football Conference will go to valley school boards in the next few days for approval.

Significantly, one member of the current Big Six cast — Redstone — will not act on the proposed constitution. Presumably that will, in effect, drop the Black Hawks from the long-established league.

Henry Furio, Monessen High principal and chairman of the constitution committee, said that Redstone officials ignored several invitations to attend meetings at which the constitution was being written.

While no schools are actually listed in the proposed constitution, only Monessen, Charleroi, Monongahela, Donora and Brownsville will get a chance to approve it.

In other words, Redstone will have to do some fast maneuvering to maintain its present Conference status.

Under Fire

The Black Hawks have been under fire from at least one Conference school for alleged poor treatment this past season.

There are also reports that Redstone is not particularly interested in maintaining its Conference ties because of a probable merger with Brownsville in the next couple of years.

Under the new constitution, the Big Six — or more accurately, the Big Five — will be governed solely by principals of the member schools.

No awards will be permitted unless approved by the Conference. This clause of the constitution is designed to give the principals control over the selection of all-star teams and other prizes which have been offered at the annual Big Six banquet.

Want Reporters

However Furio hastened to point out that the Conference has no intention of "pushing out" the Mon Valley Sportswriters Association which has borne the award burden in the past.

"We want to work closely with the newspaper men," said Furio. "We hope to strengthen the Conference, not weaken it, by this constitution."

Most of the proposed constitution is merely a repetition of WPIAL and PIAA rules.

New members will be accepted by invitation only. And all schools, to be eligible for the title, must play each other as long as the membership of the Conference does not exceed seven.

The constitution will be presented to the Monessen School Board for approval next Tuesday.

The principals who drafted the document anticipate no trouble in securing an okay from the respective school boards.

Army, Villanova In Grid Pact

Pirates Defeat Athletics Behind Friend, 4 to 3

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP)—Manager Bobby Bragan, hoping to make the most of the time left before the National League season opens 11 days hence, scheduled an intra-squad game today for his Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates added their fifth victory in their last six spring exhibition games Thursday at the expense of the Kansas City A's when they scored early and then held on for a 4-3 decision.

Bob Friend, already named as the Buc's opening day pitcher against the New York Giants at Forbes Field April 16, worked seven innings and was tagged with three runs on nine hits. Bonus hurler Art Swanson "mopped up" for Friend in the final two frames and blanked the A's on two hits.

The real hero of the afternoon, both at bat and afield, was Gene Freese, the reconverted third baseman who played left field. The Wheeling, W. Va., resident drove in two runs with a pair of singles and turned in two fine catches in the ninth inning.

Virgil (Fire) Trucks, who only Wednesday announced he would retire at the end of this season, was the losing pitcher for the A's.

McVickers Sweep Again in Bowling

McVickers, already champions of the Open Hearth Riggers League, easily blanked the Frabels last night while the second place Van Shuras won a pair from the Vandermers.

Scoring leaders were Sage Salay, 199-499; Mike Baka, 164-465; Pete Kossar, 172-446; and Captain Gee, 173-433.

The standings show McVickers, 40-2; Van Shuras, 23-19; Frabels, 16-26; and Vandermers, 5-37.

One week remains in the season. The McVickers have clinched the title by winning both first and second half honors.

Marovich New Pro at Baldoc

IRWIN, Pa. (UP) —Eli Marovich, leading Western Pennsylvania amateur golfer, has decided to turn professional and will become assistant pro at Baldoc Hills Country Club here under Tom (Red) Blaskovich, it was disclosed today.

Yankees Win Even Minus Hits

By UNITED PRESS

In baseball, as in horse racing, there are always the imponderables to consider.

How else could you explain the New York Yankees winning a spring exhibition game on only two hits and the Milwaukee Braves losing a game despite a 16-hit barrage?

Eight spring time tuneups Thursday produced a staggering total of 171 hits. That's an average of more than 21 hits a game. Yet the Yankees needed only one of those bingles to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 1-0.

Robin Roberts worked the first eight innings for the Phillies, yielding only a safe bunt to Hank Bauer in the fourth inning. When Roberts was lifted for a pinch hitter, rookie Dick Farrell took over in the ninth and lost the game. Woody Held tripled and scored on Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly.

The Braves, meanwhile, outhit Brooklyn, 16-14, in a wild contest at San Antonio, Tex., but still lost out to the homer-happy Dodgers. Duke Snider unloaded two home runs and Carl Furillo, Gino Cimoli and Charley Neal each connected once to whip Milwaukee, 14-8.

Dime a Dozen

Elsewhere along the exhibition circuit, hits were a dime a dozen ...or cheaper.

The Baltimore Orioles, of all people, collected 22 safeties in whipping the Chicago Cubs, 18-5. Tito Francona led the Baltimore hit parade with four, including a home run, while Bill Gardner also homered for the Orioles.

In another slugfest at Salt Lake City, the New York Giants broke a three-game losing streak with a 13-hit attack that wrecked the Cleveland Indians, 9-6. Allan Worthington went seven innings for the Giants and gave up eight hits, including two homers by Vic Wertz.

The Pittsburgh Pirates assaulted Virgil Trucks for eight hits and four runs in the first two innings and hung on to defeat the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3. Gene Freese of Pittsburgh drove in two runs with two singles and also sparkled in the field.

Relief Job

An impressive three-inning relief job by Ellis Kinder enabled the Chicago White Sox to edge the Boston Red Sox, 6-5, in 11 innings, while the Cincinnati Redlegs downed the Washington Senators, 5-4, on a 10th inning single by Don Hoak.

While all this hitting was going on, Sam Jones and Hoyt Wilhelm who were acquired in off-season trades, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over Detroit Tigers. Jones struck out seven and scattered six hits in seven innings, while Wilhelm choked off a bases-loaded rally by the Tigers in the eighth.

United Press Sports Editor Picks Pirates to Finish 6th

By UNITED PRESS

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) — The Yankees easy, the Dodgers after another close race with the Braves and Redlegs.

Those are the 1957 pennant predictions of this baseball writer after watching the 12 clubs training in Florida for five weeks and examining the reports on the four teams which conditioned in Arizona.

Here's how this observer sees them finishing this year:

American League: 1 —Yankees; 2—Indians; 3—Tigers; 4 — White Sox; 5—Red Sox; 6 — Athletics; 7—Orioles, 8—Senators.

National League: 1 — Dodgers; 2 —Braves; 3—Redlegs; 4 —Cardinals: 5—Phillies; 6— Pirates; 7—Giants, 8—Cubs.

In the National League, there's plenty of support for the Dodgers, Braves and Redlegs, who finished in that order last season with only two games separating them.

The Dodgers get the nod because they won in 1956 despite the fact most of their stars had—for them—sub-par years. With the return of Johnny Podres, Dodger pitching figures to be stronger.

Braves Standing Pat

Milwaukee is standing pat on the club which finished a game behind the Dodgers last year. The Braves have pitching and a good bench, but they also have second base and left field problems.

As for the Redlegs, they are the power club of the league, but they appear short on pitching. They also may have a third base problem and do not have as good a bench as Brooklyn and Milwaukee.

The Cardinals figure to be stronger with the addition of slugging Del Ennis and pitchers Sam Jones, Jim Davis and Hoyt Wilhelm. They lack a hard hitting center fielder and catching depth, however.

Philadelphia has the pitching, but lacks a major league shortstop and power. Pittsburgh, too, has the pitching and probably the best defensive outfield in the league but falls short in long ball punch. There seems to be little hope for the Giants or Cubs.

Over in the American League, the Yankees are in a class by themselves.

A Close Battle

The battle for second place promises to be a close one with the Indians, Tigers, White Sox and Red Sox in the race.

Cleveland rates the edge because of superior pitching.

Detroit may lack solid pitching behind its big three of Frank Lary, Billy Hoeft and Paul Foytack. The Tigers have power in Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Ray Boone, but may be hurting at third base with Boone shifted to first.

The White Sox have strength down the middle. That strength, however, is offset by weaknesses at first and third bases and Chicago may run out of pitching.

Boston has the power and the pitching potential, but still is platued with infield holes.

All those ex-Yankees figure to give Kansas City a much-needed shot in the arm but from this corner, the A's still look like solid second division citizens along with the Orioles and near-hopeless Senators.

Baker Begins Squash Tourney

Jimmy Baker, Monessen High junior, was scheduled to meet Jack Monchik today to open the United States National Squash Racquets junior championships in Pittsburgh.

The tournament will continue through Saturday and Sunday.

Today's action will take place at the Pitt Field House. The semi-finals and finals will be played at the Pittsburgh Golf Club with consolation play at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Steve Vehsalge, of Philadelphia, is top-seeded in the three day show.

Baker, who is also a member of the Monessen High tennis team, has been playing squash less than a year. However he's developed enough in that time to win a berth on the Pittsburgh city team.

Weddells Romp in Hearth League

Weddells blanked Whitehouse on Wednesday in Open Hearth League bowling.

In other matches, Maykovich won two games from the Van Marters and Balmers took two from the Minardis.

Top scorers were Ed Kroskie, 209-539; John Slebodnik, 192-525; Nick Cullen, 213-579; and Art Palm, 205-498.

Standings show Maykovich, 26-13; Balmers, 24-15; Minardis, 22-17; Weddells, 21-18; Van Marters, 19-20; and Whitehouse, 7-32.

'Fly Fishing Only' at 15 State Streams

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Fish Commission announced today parts of 15 streams will be under "fly fishing only" regulations when the trout season opens April 15.

Executive Director William Voigt Jr. said the establishment of fly fishing areas was made at the requests of sportsmen's groups and property owners. An estimated 52 miles of stream have been cited where only artificial flies and streamers and conventional fly fishing will be permitted.

Uniform regulations were adopted last year to replace special regulations previously in effect on about 20 streams.

The regulatins include:

—Fishing may be done only with artificial flies and streamers.

—Fishing may be done only with conventional fly fishing tackle.

—The possession of bait fish or fish bait will be prohibited.

—Fishing hours, 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. est.

—Minimum size, nine inches.

—Daily limit, six trout (combined species).

In Bowling Wins

Bombers tripped the Flyers and Hell Cats won a pair from the Blue Devils in DIC Bowling last night.

Top scorers were S. Stover, 167-363; O. Payne, 124-332; P. Nelson, 163-439; and D. Simpson, 159-390.

Karl to Coach At Turtle Creek

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Ken Karl, assistant coach at Indiana University last season, was appointed head football coach at Turtle Creek High School by a vote of the school board Thursday night.

Karl held coaching positions at Lancaster Catholic and Har-Brack before joining the staff of former Indiana U. Coach Bernie Crimmins last year.

A graduate of Altoona High School in 1941, Karl succeeds Ossie Rometo at Turtle Creek. The new coach has a record of 60 victories, 20 defeats and four ties. In 1954 his Har-Brack team won the WPIAL Class AA championship.

Burke Sets Pace in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)— Defending champion Jack Burke Jr., carried a shaky one-stroke lead today into the second round of the highest-scoring Masters Golf Tournament in 21 years.

And that lead was in immediate danger of an assault by veteran pro Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill. Halted by darkness after shooting par golf for 17 holes Thursday, Furgol needed only a birdie on the 18th today to deadlock with curly-haired Jackie for the top spot.

After today's second round, the huge field of 100 will be chopped to the low 40 plus ties for the last two rounds — the first time the Masters has had to set any qualification test for its select field.

A Strange Masters

But then this is a strange Masters Tournament where no player in 100 could do better than Burke's one-under-par 71 on opening day. This is the first Masters since 1936, when lighthorse Harry Cooper led the field with 70 in the first round, that only one player was able to crack par for the first day.

A high wind, offshoot to tornadic conditions in the South, was one factor in the high scoring. Another was the contouring and placing of the pins on the expansive Augusta National greens which could double for heliports in an emergency.

Burke got his lead on one spectacular hole, the 12th, with an eagle. His second landed on the brink of a creek but rolled away instead of into the water, and he dribbled a 55-footer into the cup.

Below Burke's standout 71, the Masters looked more like the interzone finals of the Davis Cup for tennis than an American golf tournament. Two Aussies — British Open champion Peter Thomson of Melbourne and Australian Open champion Bruce Crampton of Sydney — were grouped at par 72 with Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., top money winner of 1957, and the two men who have won the Masters three times previously, Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead.

A Foreign Challenge

The 73's included two other British Empire men — veteran Henry Cotton of London and Al Balding, Canadian PGA champion from Islington, Ont. It was far and away the biggest foreign challenge to American control of the Masters in its 21 playings. All four Britons were in excellent positions.

The two Australians, Thomson and the muscular Crampton, only 21, were finalists in the Australian Open with the kid winning.

Night fell before the big field quite finished and Fred Haas of New Orleans who was playing with Furgol, also had a choice of finishing or waiting until today. He elected to finish and took a 74 although at one point on the back nine he had a chance to catch Burke.

Palmer Cards 73 in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)— Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and Skee Riegel, Villanova, Pa.,—with 73's —topped the Pennsylvania contingent in the first round of the Masters Golf tournament.

The scores of Riegel and Palmer, the second-ranking money winner on the pro winter circuit this year, ranked them in third place for the day along with six other contenders in the 73-bracket.

Palmer toured the Masters course in 37-36 for his one-over-par showing. Riegel made it in 36-37.

Other Pennsylvania entries ranked far behind in the field. They were: Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., 40-37—77; Art Wall Pocono Manor, 38-41—79, and Sam Parks, Pittsburgh, 42-39—81.

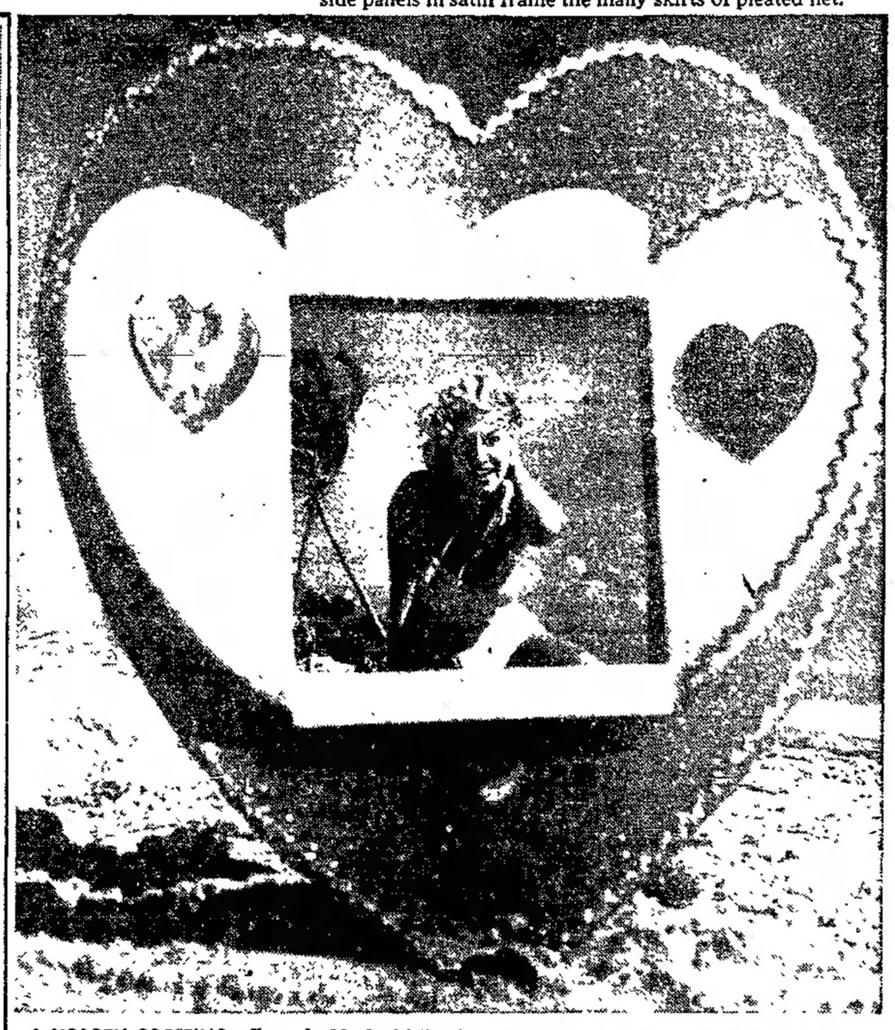
At Home with the Stars

CRIME DOESN'T PAY in real life, they say, but it certainly pays off in the movies, as star Richard Conte would be quick to agree. Well-known for his rough guy roles, Conte, along with his wife and son, Mark, lives in a "hideout" that reflects his love of luxury. The house, itself, nestles among huge old sycamores in swanky Beverly Hills. Inside the house is part of Conte's large collection of rare, original paintings, brasses, etchings and antiques. Conte does a little painting of his own and spends some between-pictures time in his large library. In the dining room, Conte studies his script. On the polished old mahogany table are fine antique candlesticks and on the wall is his collection of mugs and rare prints. Despite a busy schedule, he plays a lot with his son. This doesn't sound much like a movie gangster.

This is an under-the-tree view of the Conte home. He's in the driveway with Mark.

His favorite paintings are prominently shown in library.



A HEARTY GREETING—Beverly Neal of Miami wants everyone to know that she hopes they have lots of valentines on that day. To help out, she is sending one of her own.

Christine Trozzo Honor Guest at Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Trozzo, of Lewis avenue, Speers, entertained at their home on Wednesday evening at a party honoring their daughter, Christine, who was observing her first birthday anniversary.

The informal social time was climaxed by the serving of luncheon along with a large birthday cake decorated as a carousel. A smaller cake baked in the form of a schoolhouse was presented to the baby along with many other greetings and gifts.

Moving pictures were taken of the festivities.

The guest list included the paternal grandmother of the baby, Mrs. Sam Trozzo, two of her aunts, Hazel and Sylvia Venneri, Mr. and Mrs. Verner Beckman and two children, Donald and Mary Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Venneri. Mrs. Beckman is also an aunt of the baby.

Loretta Palfrey, of Short street, is spending the week end in Washington, D. C. on the cherry blossom tour.

Loyal Women's Class Meets at Christian Church

The April meeting of the Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church was held in the church social rooms on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Jennie Bowen was the devotional leader and her subject was "The Cross and Easter".

She offered prayer and read scripture from Luke and Acts and presented a paper.

Mrs. John Cadman conducted the business session and routine reports were given. Cards were sent to several ill members. Plans were made for the May meeting in the church with Mrs. Leona Roberts and Mrs. Maude Bowers as hostesses and Mrs. Jack Frazier as the leader.

Luncheon was served by Mrs Cadman.

William S. Mort, who is stationed in Brize Norton A. F. Base, England, was recently advanced to Staff Sergeant from A-1-C and expects to return home in the very near future. His wife, the former Lillian Palfrey, is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Palfrey while he is abroad.

Mrs. H. P. Jeffers Honor Guest on 91st Birthday

Mrs. H. P. Jeffers was honor guest at an informal party yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John E. Owen, of Broad avenue, marking her 91st birthday anniversary.

There were 16 friends in attendance and refreshments were served along with a decorated birthday cake.

For the occasion the home was decorated with spring flowers including arrangements of forsythia, apricot blossoms and snapdragons, which were sent to Mrs. Jeffers as gifts. She also received many gifts and greetings from friends and relatives.

Mrs. Jeffers spends a few months a year with Mrs. Owen and a few months with her son, Dr. H. S. Jeffers, of Cuyahoga Falls, O. In the summer she lives in her home at Astabula, O., on Lake Erie.

Besides Mrs Owen and Dr. Jeffers, Mrs. Jeffers has two other sons, Trace Jeffers, of Pittsburgh and Arthur Jeffers, of Clarksburg. She has four grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

A highlight of her 91st birthday was the receipt of a birthday card from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Patriotic Order Plans for Party

The Patriotic Order of America met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha MacDonald on Main street. Chaplain Reba Robertson conducted the devotional period with prayer and the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. MacDonald conducted the business session and plans were made for a grocery party at the next meeting, May 1. Plans were also discussed for the annual memorial service.

Games were played during the social hour and winning prizes were Reba Robertson, Della Forsythe, Rhonda Cramer, Mary Chalfant, Mabel Yeaton, Nora Pro, Jennie Bowen and Lutritia Nutt.

Daffy Club Meets At Serwinski Home

Mrs. Helen Serwinski was hostess to members of the Daffy Club at her home on Wednesday evening. Two tables of cards were in play.

High score awards were won by Mrs Mercy Green, Mrs. Mary Braddock and Mrs. Elaine Green. The floating prize was awarded to Mrs. Anna Jean Laird.

Luncheon was served and Mrs. Laird was named as next hostess at her home in Lynnwood.

Mrs. Mabel O'Hara Entertains Club

Mrs Mabel O'Hara, of Lynnwood, was hostess to members of the Lynnwood Tuesday Evening Club at her home and Mrs. William Pierotti was a guest.

Cards were played and winning high score awards were Mrs. Viva Lovas, Mrs. George Diethorn and Mrs. Harold Robins.

Luncheon was served and in two weeks the club members will be guests of Mrs. Edith Ferencz.

Vernon PTA Board Plans Final Meeting

The executive committee of the Vernon Parent Teacher Association met on Wednesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. James Price, of Baltimore street.

This was the final executive session of the year and the time was devoted to planning for the final unit meeting of the year on April 15, at 8 o'clock at Vernon Junior High School. The election and installation of officers will take place at this meeting and a social hour will follow.

The attendance banner will be awarded to the room having the largest parental attendance percentagewise. There will be a supervised playroom for children of school age.

The following auditing committee was named, Mrs. John Beggs, Laura Free and Mrs. Paula Weible.

Jolly Club Meets At Gauden Home

Mrs. Marion Gauden, of Broad avenue, entertained members of the Belle Vernon Jolly Club at her home on Tuesday evening. Two tables of cards were in play and winning high score awards were Mrs. Mabel Yeaton, Mrs. Mercy Michener, Mrs. Julia Nesti and Mrs. Gauden.

Mrs. Michener was presented with a birthday gift.

Luncheon was served and in two weeks the group will meet at the home of Mrs. Steward Wells, of Graham street, who will return on Saturday after spending the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. William Palfrey and children, Loretta, Jimmie and Sherry, of Short street, visited for a few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palfrey, of Warren, O. and with Mr. Palfrey's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palfrey.

New Highway Is Suggested

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department has received Senate legislation urging the reconstruction of State Route 219 in western Pennsylvania between Meyersdale in Somerset County and Bradford in McKean County.

A resolution adopted by the Senate this week pointed out the present route is "circuitous and over a narrow road badly in need of repairs," and with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway that part of Pennsylvania will be "teeming with industrial activity and vehicular traffic."

"In order that this great Commonwealth may meet the challenge and opportunity for industrial progress, a modern, direct highway is needed," the resolution said.

The resolution, sponsored by Sens. J. Irving Whalley (R-Somerset) and Ernest F. Walker (R-Cambria), called upon the department to make a study in conjunction with the state Commerce Department "of the prospective industrial effect the St. Lawrence Seaway will have upon the area."

Whalley and Walker also asked for a survey of the area served by the route, including Meyersdale, Somerset, Bedford, Johnstown, Altoona, Punxsutawney, DuBois, Ridgway, Kane and Bradford, "With the prospect of rebuilding the road into a modern high- speed - highway...and linking it with the highways leading to the ports in the Great Lakes."

Another resolution introduced by the two and adopted called for "modernization of the portion of the Lincoln Highway between Fort Louden and Ligonier."

Crashes into World

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—The Tisdale family's new baby was born with a smash Thursday. John Tisdale, 21, was driving to the hospital when his wife, in the back seat, told him the stork was arriviving. Tisdale looked back and smashed into a telephone pole. No one was hurt.

Archbishop Ends Long Exile to Home in Europe

MAHE, Seychelles Islands (UP)—Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus ends a 13-month exile today and leaves by ship for Africa on the first leg of a journey to Europe.

He planned to board the Greek tanker Olympic Thunderer later in the day to begin a trip he hopes eventually will take him back to his eastern Mediterranean home.

Up to the declaration of his freedom last week by Britain, the archbishop had been confined to his villa near here.

The archbishop and members of his staff were exiled to the Seychelles March 8, 1956. The British hoped his removal from Cyprus would break the back of the EOKA terrorist activities there.

It was not certain which port the Olympic Thunderer would take Makarios to.

The British said he was free to go anywhere except Cyprus.

A 'Reel' Demotion

Record Year Is Predicted

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —A rec- d year for steel and economy g 1957 was predicted today ay E Estes Jr., director of f administration for United s Steel Corp.

. tes tempered his forecast with the note that a temporary slowing down of the growth rate of economy was anticipated.

He said it could include an actual decline in certain segments of the economy, including steel production.

But Estes, speaking at the Charge Account Bankers Association Conference, said that "this all adds up to a good year, but one in which alertness for change is vital."

He said the factors to watch most carefully were the international situation and the credit situation and business spending, both for plant and equipment and for inventories.

Estes said he did not expect any serious curtailment of consumer buying because of the high cost of credit. He also said "we do not believe that the growth in total credit has reached the danger point, particularly with personal income still rising."

He predicted that steel production in 1957 would be approximately 117 million ingot tons, equaling the record output of 1955, with an operating rate of close to 90 per cent of the industry's expanded capacity.

Municipal Strike Paralyzes City

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—A flash strike of municipal employes paralyzed the city administration for the second successive day today.

Skeleton crews operated hospitals, cemeteries and the zoo. The city chartered 140 private trucks for garbage disposal.

Mayor Edwards Bergalli said the walkout, which did not have the backing of union leaders, came as a surprise to him. The strikers are scheduled to return to work Saturday. They walked out Thursday for higher wages.

$79,040,000 IN SILVER BARS — 2,343 Silver bars are unloaded from liner Queen Elizabeth in New York. They are the final installment of an 88,000,000-ounce wartime U. S. loan to Britain. The bars are valued at $79,040,000. The silver was lent with the stipulation that Britain return it within five years of end of World War II. Britain tabbed end signing of the Japanese treaty in 1952.

College Crowd not Acting Up This Year

By CHARLES TAYLOR

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UP)—The college crowd which two years ago went on a furniture-breaking, window-smashing rampage here, has put its head in the sand this season.

"We're looking for the co-ed with the sexiest toe," explained John Bailey, a Cornell University student whose Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity is sponsoring the "Miss Toe" contest.

"It's just a routine we give the girls," he said. "It's a good way to get acquainted. We have an all-around ball down here Florida is great."

The townsfolk are just as glad that the youths who annually swarm to the "college beach" section of Fort Lauderdale's ocean-side strip got the rough stuff out of their system in 1955.

That year they almost wrecked the place and even put sharks in a swank hotel swimming pool. The city debated whether to allow them back.

"Sure they get away from home and they bust loose," said lifeguard Howie Wheale. "But recently they haven't caused any real trouble. They get together and have their parties at night. They sing and make a lot of noise but nobody seems to mind."

The biggest troupe this year—1,200 students — came from Michigan State University. Cornell, Ohio State, Northwestern, Duke and Rutgers also contributed large contingents on spring vacations.

"We just come for the fun and the sun — to get away from the old college grind. You know, books and all that," said Sandy York, a Michigan State coed from Birmingham, Mich.

"Meet boys? Sure, they're all over the place — but that isn't the only reason we came down," said Maryanne Anderson, of Michigan State and Pestigo, Wis.

Pardons Probe Plans David Darcy Review

HARRISBURG (UP) — With most of its other cases cleared away the legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board was prepared to begin its review of the controversial David Darcy case next week.

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), committee chairman, said the group will resume hearings next Wednesday with seven persons involved in the Darcy case scheduled to testify.

The investigation was authorized by the Republican Legislature after charges of "improper influence" were raised when Gov. George M. Leader last September commuted Darcy's death sentence to life imprisonment. Darcy was one of three Philadelphia youths convicted of killing a bystander during a Bucks County tavern holdup in 1947.

The legislative resolution ordering the inquiry said "the opinion prevails in many quarters that political considerations influenced the action of the Board of Pardons in this and in other recent cases."

Republican and Democratic committee members argued at the week's windup session Thursday over just what "other recent cases" should be called up for study.

Questions Procedure

The investigators are directed by the General Assembly to inquire into "all actions since Jan 4, 1950." But Rep Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria), one of the two Democrats on the six-man committee, charged that committee counsel David Kohn had not presented "a single case" involving previous Republican Pardons Boards.

Both Lopresti and Sen Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) have repeatedly called for an investigation of cases handled prior to January, 1955, when the present Democratic board was installed.

The only such cases brought up thus far were those presented by Attorney General Thomas D. McBride, a member of the board acting as its legal counsel during the proceedings.

McBride has presented a series of 16 cases in which GOP political leaders wrote to Republican board members under previous administrations asking clemency on behalf of persons applying to the board for commutations or pardons.

Kohn told the committee he did not present the cases because he was unable to find records of them only because the Justice Department took them from the Pardon Board files.

Says Took Records

McBride replied his office took records only last week for presentation to the committee "after it was quite clear that committee counsel had no intention of doing so."

Among the cases presented by McBride Thursday was that of Stanley Curry, Jr., Upper Darby, who was convicted in 1952 of armed robbery and sentenced to 10-20 years imprisonment by Delaware County Judge William R. Toal.

In 1954 the Republican-controlled Pardons Board recommended the commutation of Curry's sentence over the objections of the Delaware County district attorney and the sentencing judge. He was released after serving two years in jail.

McBride told the committee that Judge Arthur P. Bretherick, also of Delaware County, who in his appearance before the committee had scored the board for ignoring recommendations from judges and district attorneys had made no protest to the board action.

"He thundered whenever the Democrats turned anyone loose," McBride said.

Meanwhile, in Media, Bretherick was reported to have resumed his attack on both McBride and the board.

He was quoted as saying the attorney general is "spilling red herring juice so fast that he himself is wading in it."

MAMIE BECOMES A 'CAPTIVE' AUDIENCE — An informal photo catches President Eisenhower as he kisses his First Lady while leaving a Washington hotel where he had addressed the National Conference of Republican Women.

Ballistic Missiles Available Soon To All U. S. Military Forces

By CHARLES CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UP) — Such rapid progress is being made in developing 1,500-mile ballistic missiles that the first ones may be assigned to military forces by the end of this year or early in 1958.

Some of the missiles might be made available to Britain at the same time in line with the "agreement in principle" reached at Bermuda by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold MacMillan.

This assessment was obtained from high ranking military sources in a position to know about American progress in development of the IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile) and other weapons of the future.

The Bermuda developments and the elevation of Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles, a scientist - mathematician - administrator, to deputy defense secretary appeared to mark a second "new look" at military forces, bringing up to date a major modernization started in 1953.

Military sources said the IRBM will be as vital to Britain's needs as the ICBM (Intercontinental Ballistics Missile) to America's. The intermediate range weapon would greatly reinforce Britain's ability to deter war.

The IRBM, these sources say, could reach Moscow from British launching sites in about 10 minutes.

The United States will not, and cannot under the law, supply Britain with atomic warheads. But it was made clear at Bermuda that such warheads will be stored at U.S. bases in Britain and could quickly be fitted to the guided missiles if hostilities broke out.

The rapid progress reported with the IRBM highlights advances in the whole guided missile field in this country.

For the first time, as expenditures for missiles continue to reach new records, military services are beginning to install missile units and eliminate conventional forces in their stead.

The Air Force, for example, in the year starting July 1, will drop six wings of piloted fighters and light bombers from its Tactical Air Command because the Army now has missiles to take over much of its own ground support.

The Air Force also is reducing its goal by two jet interceptor wings in the Air Defense Command, obviously in anticipation of the new long-range guided missile interceptors.

The Army has all but eliminated anti aircraft guns as the number of anti-aircraft guided missile launching sites increases across the land.

Nuclear Warheads Ready

The Defense Department disclosed recently that nuclear warheads are being stored in the United States for guided missiles which airplanes would launch against enemy bombers in event of attack. In about a year new Nike anti - aircraft missiles will have atomic warheads.

U. S. to Send Newer Weapons to Korea

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is planning to put newer-model weapons in Korea to partly offset a reported Communist military buildup in North Korea, American officials disclosed today.

The action will be taken under a liberal new interpretation of the 1953 armistice which ended the Korean fighting. There is no intention of declaring the armistice void despite repeated evidence of Communist violations.

Some highly-placed persons have suggested that the United States and its fighting partners in Korea declare the 1953 armistice agreement dead because of the Communist infractions.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles earlier this week ruled out such action on the ground it might lead to new fighting in Korea. But he said the Reds have committed "rather serious violations" and this may "give us greater freedom of action in the respects in which it has been violated."

Officials said Dulles meant greater freedom under an article of the armistice providing for maintenance of the "balance of forces" in Korea. The article ruled out introduction of new weapons except to replace worn out material, and said replacements must be of the "same effectiveness and the same type."

The United States claims, however, that the Communists have increased their firepower — primarily by sending into North Korea an estimated 400 to 700 jet and propeller-driven planes in violation of the armistice.

U.S. officials also argue that in many cases it is almost impossible to replace some equipment with items of the "same effectiveness and the same type" because they are no longer being manufactured.

American planners are not too worried. They believe this country, South Korea and the other nations still keeping forces in Korea could repel any Red attack.

Warns Crackdown On Selling of Oil, Gas Stocks

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Securities Commission warned today it plans to crack down on unregistered persons selling fractional interest in oil, gas or other mineral rights and companies selling stock to raise capital to explore and develop oil and gas territories.

The commission said it received reports that unauthorized persons were selling fractional interest or stock in drilling operations, particularly in some western counties of the state.

The agency said it will conduct an intensive drive to "eliminate the menace of dealers in various mineral rights who have illegally and often fraudulently sold rights to the public."

The commission warned that persons selling securities for drilling for gas or oil without proper registration were subject to prosecution carrying up to a $5,000 fine or five years imprisonment.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Dolores Danko Scuteri, who died three years ago today, April 5, 1954.
The stars are dimly shining
Upon one lonely grave,
Where sleeps without awakening,
One we loved, but could not save
Sadly missed by Parents and Family

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Albert Carmen Dominico, who died seven years ago today, April 5, 1950.
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal;
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones that will never forget.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children.

Mandatory Polio Vaccine Bill's Future Uncertain

HARRISBURG (UP)—A sponsor of a bill to make anti-polio vaccinations mandatory for all Pennsylvania school children said today the fate of the legislation is "uncertain" at this time.
Rep. Marian E. Markley (R-Lehigh), chairman of the House Education Committee which had the bipartisan bill introduced last February, said there had been some opposition against any compulsory health measures and the legislation has been "laid on the table" in her committee.
"For myself, the co-sponsors and Speaker W. Stuart Helm, I want to make one point clear," she said. "We are no more in favor of compulsory health measures, in principle, than the hundreds of opponents of House Bill 450. We are greatly interested in the lives and welfare of the children of the Commonwealth, thus our action."
The bill would bar children at all private, parochial or public schools after Sept. 1 if they had not received the injections, Mrs. Markley pointed out the legislation has the backing of the Pennsylvania Medical Society and the state Health Department.

He Saw the Light

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—The judge disallowed Arthur L. Burnett's claim that a green light gave him the right of way when he drove through an intersection here without stopping and was arrested. Burnett was fined $150 for drunken driving after a policeman testified there is no traffic light at the corner in question.

Scientist Challenges Chilly Whales' Tails

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — A challenge has been raised to the perfectly plausible scientific theory that whales go through life with cold tails.
Dr. John Kanwisher, an ocean biologist of the Woods Hole (Mass) Oceanographic Institution, found the tail temperatures of one fin whale to be only a little less than its interior body temperature.
Of course, one whale isn't all whales. But you can understand why whale temperatures are a matter of much mystery. Dr. Kanwisher's whale was fifty-four feet long.
And so, his measurements can only cast doubt over the generally accepted explanation of how whales keep themselves warm while living in icy waters.

Warm-Blooded Animals

Like peoples, whales have to do that in order to live because they are warm-blooded animals. Like people, they are not furred but bare-skinned. Unlike people, they have to rely entirely on their own body thermostats — they can't put clothes on or take clothes off.
The now challenged theory is based upon known facts of whale anatomy. The whole body is encased in blubber except the tail. Clearly the blubber insulates and conserves body heat. As the body starts tapering toward the tail, a remarkable arrangement of arteries and veins begins.
It seems to be an arrangement whereby the warmth can be taken from the circulating blood as it approaches the uninsulated tail, and transferred to the chilled blood as it returns to the body from tail. While in cold waters, that mechanism would give the whale a perpetually cold tail but would keep the blood warm in the rest of his body.

Took Whale's Temperatures

Dr. Kanwisher took temperatures of his giant whale off the coast of Norway where it had been freshly killed by professional whalers. Using a thermometer hooked up to a six-foot long harpoon, he found that its deep body temperature was 96 degrees, while its tail temperature was 9.5 degrees. The temperature of the water was 53 degrees.
The whale had been loafing when killed—the whalers took it by surprise. And it had been killed instantly. That's an important detail because when a whale is exerting itself, its body produces more heat than when it is at rest, and it must somehow get rid of the surplus heat to remain at a uniform temperature.

TV 30 Years Old Sunday Afternoon

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Thirty years ago this Sunday, the image of Edna May Horner, a telephone operator in Washington, flickered onto a TV screen in Manhattan. In her best telephone voice, she said:

"Mr. Gifford — I have Mr. Hoover in Washington. He wants to speak to you."

William Ewald

The date was April 7, 1927. The time — about 2:30 in the afternoon. The event — the first public inter-city telecast in history.

The Bell Telephone labs, responsible for the transmission, did not refer to it as a "telecast". The program for the day—distributed in New York and Washington — was labeled simply a "demonstration."

A Real 'Whingdinger'

Whatever its name it was a whingdinger. It starred Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce in the Coolidge administration. From the Bell labs at Whippany, N.J., the program also featured a male comic and a female monologist — the first performers ever to star on TV.

It had been a long time in the making. Back in 1924, the Bell labs had succeeded in transmitting a still picture from Cleveland to New York. Early in 1925, Dr. Herbert Ives, then director of electro-optical research at Bell, outlined a research program.

By the end of 1925, Bell technicians had succeeded in transmitting a moving picture iwthin a room. Early in 1926, a "live" image was sent from one room to another. A couple of weeks before April 7, 1927, the men at Bell ran some test runs between New York and Washington.

When April 7 rolled around, Hoover, some newsmen and Bell officials settled themselves in what had once been a funeral parlor in the capital. It is now a flower shop. In Manhattan, newsmen and officials gathered in the Bell Building at 463 West St.

At 2:15, Walter Gifford, President of AT&T, spoke to the Manhattan gathering. There were also brief speeches in Manhattan by Frank Jewett, president of the Bell labs, and Dr. Ives.

Soon Miss Horner (now Mrs. Washington), working through telephone lines, came through with Hoover. "It is a matter of just pride to have a part in this historic occasion . . ." began Hoover.

His image was projected onto two screens in New York—one, two by three inches; the other, about two by three feet. The small image was well-defined, the large one, a little unclear.

After Hoover's address, other officials breathed briefly into the apparatus. Then Whippany began transmitting—this time, by radio. An "A. Dolan" rendered a comic bit in brogue and another bit in blackface. A Mrs. H. A. Frederick of Mountain Lakes, N.J., whose husband worked for Bell, delivered a humorous talk. Dolan is now dead; Mrs. Frederick still lives in Mountain Lakes.

It lasted about one hour in all. Newspapers the next day pronounced it a success. After the demonstration, reporters asked Gifford what lay ahead for the curious invention.

"I'll leave that to your imagination," replied Gifford.

It's doubtful if anyone's imagination then, no matter how fanciful, managed to conceive what lay ahead in the 30 years to come.

Your Health—

How to Use Nose Drops Is Important

By R. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Using nose drops is not quite the simple procedure most people probably think it is.

Unless you take them in the right way you might lose all or most of the benefit they should give you. And using the wrong type of drops in the wrong way might actually be harmful.

Pharmaceutical firms make nose drops with either an oily or watery base. While it's up to your doctor to prescribe what kind of drops are best for you and when and if you should use them, I think most physicians generally agree that those with a watery base are best.

This doesn't mean that any nasal medication dissolved in plain water is right for you. Such water usually is irritating to the mucous membranes and mght make the mucus flow at a faster rate then that which ordinarily accompanies a cold.

One of the best bases probably is one containing a salt and water combination similar to that of the body's fluids.

Now about the method of using the drops.

It does little good to take them when in a sitting position. The medication simply runs along the bottom of your nose and drops into your throat missing the nasal membranes.

One of the best methods that doctors use is either of the following:

With a pillow supporting your shoulder, lie on one side, with your head hangng lower than your body. Drop the medication into the lower nostril. Remain in this position for a moment or two and then turn over and repeat the process with the other nostril.

Although this is a very good way of doing it, a somewhat easier method is simply to lie on your back with your head draped over the edge of the bed, couch or chair. Then drop the medicine into both nostrils and hold the position for about two minutes.

And that should do it.

New Vatican Ruling Bringing Sharp Increase in Communion

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP)—A new Vatican ruling is beginning to produce significant changes in the worship habits of America's 32 million Roman Catholics.

Parish priests have noted a substantial increase in the number of persons receiving Holy Communion during the two weeks since Pope Pius XII relaxed the Church's 15 - century - old requirement of prolonged fasting before Communion.

Catholic officials here said this is precisely the result that the Holy Father hoped to achieve. They expressed confidence that the trend toward frequent Communion will continue and become even more pronounced as the new rules are explained to congregations throughout the country.

Eliminates Long Fast

"The purpose of this change was to make it easier for Catholics to receive grace, or supernatural help, to lead a Godly life," said a spokesman for the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "The Blessed Sacrament is a chief source of grace. Therefore the church considers frequent Communion a most effective way of deepening the spiritual life."

Previously, under rules which had been in effect since the Fifth Century, Catholics began fasting at midnight of the day on which Communion was to be received. They took neither food nor drink until after they had received the Sacrament, usually at an early morning Mass.

The first move toward relaxation of the fasting rule came in 1953, when Pope Pius authorized the holding of evening Mass on a limited basis. Catholics who attended evening Mass were permitted to take Communion if they had gone without solid foods for three hours and without liquids for one hour. Permission of the priest was required, however, in each instance.

Three Hour Limit

In the new decree, effective March 25, the Pope "strongly exhorts" those who are "able to do so" to continue observing the traditional rule of fasting from midnight. But there is no longer any obligation for any Catholic, priest or layman, to fast for more than three hours preceding Holy Communion, whether it be taken at a morning or an evening Mass.

The new rules make it clear that alcoholic beverages, like solid foods, must not be taken for three hours before Communion. But they permit water or medicine to be taken at any time.

For a typical American Catholic family, the new rules mean that it is possible to eat breakfast at the regular time on Sunday morning and yet receive Communion at an 11 o'clock Mass. Previously, if the members of the family had planned to receive Communion at Sunday Mass they would have had to stop eating and drinking at midnight Saturday.

Priests had observed that under the old rules, there was a tendency for all except the most devout to forego taking Communion at most Sunday Masses. The hope is that under the new rules, "frequent Communion" will come to mean weekly rather than monthly to the average Catholic layman.

Man Questioned At Trial for Assaulting Four

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Willie Bird, 28, of Homestead, Pa., was to undergo cross-examination today as his trial on criminal assault charges resumed.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Samuel L. Strauss notified the court at the close of Thursday's session that he would attempt to prove Bird was the man who attacked four women in the Homestead area between last October and this January.

Bird, a steelworker, denied under questioning by his attorney, Blanche Levy, that he was in any way connected with the attacks. All four of his alleged victims identified him as their molester.

In each instance, Bird told the jury of seven women and five men that he was at home when the attacks occurred.

New Contract For Bus Lines

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A new contract will be signed here Saturday ending a strike by 17 drivers and maintenance men of the Somerset Bus Co. which began last Dec. 19.

Federal Mediator George Woomer announced that terms of the new agreement were reached during all-day talks Thursday between company attorney Harry Pollock and W. E. Lester, representative of Local 218 Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

"Resumption of service should begin shortly after the signing Saturday," Woomer said.

The 108-day strike had affected service between Somerset and Pittsburgh and Johnstown and Cumberland, Md.

Pilots Escape Serious Injury As Jets Collide

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UP) — Two Larson Air Force Base pilots escaped serious injury Thursday night when their F86 Sabrejets collided in flight a short distance from the base here.

One of the pilots, 2nd Lt. John Trapp, 26, Summit, N.J., was able to land his crippled plane safely. The other pilot, 1st Lt. John E. Kennedy, 21, Anselmo, Calif., safely bailed out.

The wreckage of Kennedy's plane crashed in a marshy field in an uninhabited area about three miles east of the base.

The incident bore ironic resemblance to a collision of two National Guard F84 jets 30,000 feet over Pittsburgh last Sunday.

As in the Thursday night accident, one pilot safely bailed out. His craft crashed into a golf course nearby. The other pilot was able to land his plane safely at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

'Treat' for Teacher!

ENID, Okla (UP)—Capt. Roy C. Smith, of Enid Air Force Base, had to eat his theory that "there is no reason for a man to starve as long as the woods are full of insects and other animals." His survival training class Thursday gave him a farewell dinner of alligator soup, fried bumblebees, fried rattlesnakes, sauteed jumbo grasshoppers, fried Mexican worms and hard-boiled quail eggs.
